Written in the Ruins Paul Chiasson, 2016-01-23 2017 Robbie Robertson Dartmouth Book Award Shortlisted Paul Chiasson reveals the possibility that early Chinese settlers landed in Cape Breton long before Europeans From the very beginning of the European Age of Discovery Cape Breton was considered unusual The history of the area even includes early references to the island having once been the land of the Chinese In 1497 at least a century before any attempt at European settlement in the region the explorer John Cabot had referred to Cape Breton as the Island of Seven Cities The indigenous people of the region the Mi'kmaq were the only aboriginal people of North America who had a written language when Europeans first arrived This writing clothing and customs also suggested an early Chinese presence In Written in the Ruins Chiasson investigates the ruins at St Peter's in the southern part of the island where evidence brought to light supports a theory that could answer all the questions raised by the island's curious unresolved history
