

Glory Movie Questions

1. How does the attitude of Colonel Robert Gould Shaw toward African-Americans change and why?

Colonel Shaw's attitude toward African-Americans changes over the course of the movie. At first, he is a white supremacist who believes that African-Americans are inferior and should not be allowed to fight in the military. However, as he spends more time with the 54th Massachusetts, he begins to see their courage and sacrifice, and his attitude changes. He becomes more accepting and even begins to value their input and leadership.

2. What differences exist among the black soldiers who make up the 54th Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry? What does this tell you about the different experiences of blacks in 19th-century America? What about their regions of origin, former status (enslaved), and educational background?

The movie shows that the 54th Massachusetts is a microcosm of the African-American community in the mid-19th century. The soldiers come from different regions, have different backgrounds, and have different levels of education. This reflects the diversity of the African-American population at the time.

3. What attitudes did white soldiers have about the 54th? Did these attitudes change and why?

At first, the white soldiers in the movie look down on the 54th and see them as inferior. However, as they see the 54th's bravery and sacrifice, their attitudes change. They begin to respect the 54th and see them as equals.

4. Were blacks treated equally to whites in the Union army? Explain.

No, blacks were not treated equally to whites in the Union army. They were paid less than whites, they were given less food and shelter, and they were often treated with disrespect and discrimination.

5. What is significant about Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse pay for himself?

Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse pay for himself is significant because it shows that he is willing to sacrifice for his men. It also shows that he is a leader who is willing to put his own interests aside for the good of his troops.

6. Did that incident end as you expected? What feelings?/thoughts come over you left with?

The movie ends with the 54th being awarded the Medal of Honor. This is a significant moment because it is the first time that African-American soldiers have been awarded this honor. The movie ends on a hopeful note, suggesting that the future is bright for African-Americans.
