What Glasses Are You Wearing?

Have you ever tried to guess or imagine? They change the way things are, don't they? Well, sometimes our brains see your glasses, and we can get tripped about the way things really are. Here are some common "glasses" our brains can wear, and the ways they can take up our things differently.

Distorting the Positive
When your brain doesn't "trust" the good stuff!
If you do well on a test, you might think "I got lucky."
If you get a compliment, you might think "Oh, that must be nice, but because that's not true!"

Mind Reading
These glasses make you think you know what others are thinking. It's a game of hide-it-over-there. If a group of kids is over there laughing together, you might think "They are talking about me and laughing about my presentation!"

Convincing
These glasses make you think that what you're hearing is not what's really going on. If you hear a friend say "I hate you," you might think "I know they hate me, but I will spend the rest of my life alone!"

Black and White Thinking
When your brain looks only at extremes or "all or nothing". If you forget something for school, you might think "That's it, the whole day is ruined!"

Overgeneralization
When you think about it once is the conclusion. If you make a mistake, you might think "I messed up everything!"

Personalization
When you think about it once is the conclusion. If your mom comes home from work, angry, you might think "My mom is angry because I didn't do my homework and she's angry!"
