Good S For Women:

Domestic Goods Joy Parr, 1999-12-15 Visions of life in the 1950s often spring from the United States supermarkets freeways huge gleaming cars bright new appliances automated households Historian Joy Parr looks beyond the generalizations about the indulgence of this era to find a specifically Canadian consumer culture Focusing on the records left by consumer groups and manufacturers and relying on interviews and letters from many Canadian women who had set up household in the decade after the war she reveals exactly how and why Canadian homemakers distinguished themselves from the consumer frenzy of their southern neighbours Domestic Goods focuses primarily on the design production promotion and consumption of furniture and appliances For Parr such a focus demands an analysis of the intertwining of the political economic and aesthetic Parr examines how the shortage of appliances in the early postwar years was a direct result of government reconstruction policy and how the international style of high modernism reflected the postwar dream of free trade But while manufacturers devised new plans for the consumer depression era frugality and a conscious setting of priorities within the family led potential customers to evade and rework what was offered them eventually influencing the kinds of goods created This book addresses questions such as who designed furniture and appliances and how were these designs arrived at What was the role of consumer groups in influencing manufacturers and government policy Why did women prefer their old wringer washers for over a decade after the automatic washer was brought in In finding the answers the author celebrates and ultimately suggests reclaiming a particularly Canadian way of consuming PlanetInform's GLOBAL Directory for Major Women's, Children's, and Infants' Apparel Wholesalers , Women in the Academy C.
