Understanding the Film Jan Bone,1997

Documentary, Performance and Risk James Lyons,2019-08-23

Documentary Performance and Risk explores how some of the most significant recent American feature documentaries use performance to dramatically animate major categories of risk The fact that these documentaries do rely on such performance is revealing both in terms of trends in American feature documentary and in relation to the currency of ideas about risk in contemporary Western societies The book takes a detailed look at the performance of risk and demonstrates the rewards of close critical attention to formal composition and performance Covering An Inconvenient Truth Super Size Me Capitalism A Love Story and Jackass The Movie it explores how these high profile films offer up compelling narratives and images of individuals acting on risk The films seek to both confront and control the contours of their environments in ways that reveal much about how a particular set of beliefs about risk and the individual have come to inform our lives This wide ranging analysis of feature documentary is ideal for scholars and postgraduate students studying documentary film film and media studies

Black Men Can't Shoot Scott N. Brooks,2009-08-01 The myth of the natural black athlete is widespread though it is usually talked about only when a sports commentator or celebrity embarrasses himself by bringing it up in public Those gaffes are swiftly decried as racist but apart from their link to the long history of ugly racial stereotypes about black people especially men they are also harmful because they obscure very real hard fought accomplishments As Black Men Can't Shoot demonstrates such successes on the basketball court don't happen just because of natural gifts instead they grow out of the long tough and unpredictable process of becoming a known player Scott Norman Brooks spent four years coaching summer league basketball in Philadelphia And what he saw heard and felt working with the young black men on his team tells us much about how some kids are able to make the extraordinary journey from the ghetto to the NCAA He tells the story of two young men Jermaine and Ray following them through their high school years and chronicling their breakthroughs and frustrations on the court as well as their troubles at home Black Men Can't Shoot is a moving coming of age story that counters the belief that basketball only exploits kids and lures them into following empty dreams and shows us that by playing ball some of these young black men have already begun their education even before they get to college

Living Through the Hoop Reuben A. Buford May,2009-09 May tells the absorbing story of the hopes and struggles of one high school basketball team the Northeast High School Knights in Northeast Georgia and the powerful role that a basketball team can play in keeping young African American kids straight away from street life focused on completing high school and possibly even attending college
