My Life and Travels Barbara McCarthy, 2022-08-16 As a child of a British air force family Barbara was troubled by the absence of a stable home life a difficult relationship with her father and too many school changes to have a traditional education or make connections and friends Her fragmented early life became so entrenched in her being that even as an independent adult in Australia moving and travelling became her life style continually leaving relationships homes and life behind her With the realisation that she had a story to tell of her survival of her achievements and successes over a long life with more than a few missteps along the way as well as some amazing travels Barbara began to write her story In the telling she uncovered layers of herself and her life that had once left her wondering who am I really She discovered who she is and that there was a happier side to her story too      Women, Horse Sports and Liberation Erica Munkwitz, 2021-07-13 Shortlisted for the 2022 Lord Aberdare Literary Prize This book is the first full length scholarly examination of British women s involvement in equestrianism from the eighteenth through the twentieth centuries as well as the corresponding transformations of gender class sport and national identity in Britain and its Empire It argues that women s participation in horse sports transcended limitations of class and gender in Britain and highlights the democratic ethos that allowed anyone skilled enough to ride and hunt from chimney sweep to courtesan Furthermore women s involvement in equestrianism reshaped ideals of race and reinforced imperial ideology at the zenith of the British Empire Here British women abandoned the sidesaddle which they had been riding in for almost half a millennium to ride astride like men thus gaining complete equality on horseback Yet female equestrians did not seek further emancipation in the form of political rights This paradox of achieving equality through sport but not through politics shows how liberating sport was for women into the twentieth century It brings into question what emancipation meant in practice to women in Britain from the eighteenth through twentieth centuries This is fascinating reading for scholars of sports history women s history British history and imperial history as well as those interested in the broader social gendered and political histories of the nineteenth and twentieth

Opening Eyes Hugh R Taylor,2025-08-06 Senior ophthalmology student Dr Hugh Ringland Taylor was in the field with the National Trachoma and Eye Health Program with Professor Fred Hollows in the 1970s. Professor Hugh Ringland Taylor AC decided to change the course of his life in his late fifties in 2006. Soon he was the Harold Mitchell Professor of Indigenous Eye Health at the University of Melbourne, closing the gap for vision, some more, and attacking trachoma, the total elimination of Australia's sandy blight, Chlamydis tracomatis, extinct. True, he had studied trachoma in five continents. He had even written the first book on it to be published for decades. Trachoma, a blinding scourge from the Bronze Age to the 21st century, his update covering a revolution in eye health delivery and blindness prevention. He had top drawer credibility at WHO and the International Agency for the Prevention of Blindness. But this goal required diplomacy, lobbying, connecting people, community liaison, and listening, advertising the magic of meeting AFL legends in the flesh, education, fund raising, financial management, and dealing with whatever arises. Walls between medical disciplines, around bureaucracies, state borders, wherever there are to be climbed. Readers will be surprised by what a public health campaign involves. For 13 years he was a researcher of trachoma, onchocerciasis, and other causes of blindness at Johns Hopkins University, Maryland, its famed Wilmer Eye Research Institute, largely. His work on the effect of a band of ultra violet light on the eyes of the watermen who collect crustaceans and molluscs in Chesapeake Bay had ripple effects in China, Taiwan, South Korea, and Singapore. By law, schoolchildren there must spend 60 minutes a day outside, a myopia prevention measure. In the 1990s, Hugh was the Ringland Anderson Professor of Ophthalmology at the University of Melbourne. He was the founding director of the Centre for Eye Research Australia, CERA, now an international leader. Hugh lives in Melbourne with his wife Liz Dax AM. They have four adult children and seven grandchildren.
