Simo,T.J.R. Hughes,2006-05-07 A description of the theoretical foundations of inelasticity its numerical formulation and implementation constituting a representative sample of state of the art methodology currently used in inelastic calculations Among the numerous topics covered are small deformation plasticity and viscoplasticity convex optimisation theory integration algorithms for the constitutive equation of plasticity and viscoplasticity the variational setting of boundary value problems and discretization by finite element methods Also addressed are the generalisation of the theory to non smooth yield surface mathematical numerical analysis issues of general return mapping algorithms the generalisation to finite strain inelasticity theory objective integration algorithms for rate constitutive equations the theory of hyperelastic based plasticity models and small and large deformation viscoelasticity Of great interest to researchers and graduate students in various branches of engineering especially civil aeronautical and mechanical and applied mathematics      Numerical Study of Rarefied Hypersonic Flow Interacting with a Continuum Jet

Christopher E. Glass,2000 An uncoupled CFD DSMC technique is developed and applied to provide solutions for continuum jets interacting with rarefield external flows The technique is based on a correlation of the appropriate Bird breakdown parameter for a transitional rarefield condition that defines a surface within which the continuum solution is unaffected by the external flow jet interaction The method is applied to two problems to assess and demonstrate its validity one of a jet interaction in the transitional rarefied flow regime and the other in the moderately rarefield regime Results show that the appropriate Bird breakdown surface for uncoupling the continuum and non continuum solutions is a function of a non dimensional parameter relating the momentum flux and collisionality between the two interacting flows
