The West has never been more affluent yet the use of antidepressants is on the increase to the extent that the World Health Organisation has declared it a major source of concern How has this state of affairs come about and what can be done Television and advertising media seem to know Wherever we look they offer countless remedies for our current situation unfortunately none of them seem to work The Happiness Illusion explores how the metaphorical insights of fairy tales have been literalised and turned into commodities In so doing their ability to educate and entertain has largely been lost Instead advertising and television sell us products that offer to magically transform the way we look how we age where we live both in the city and the countryside the possibility of new jobs and so forth All of these are supposed to make us happy But despite the allure of retail therapy modern magic has lost its spell What then are the sources of happiness in our contemporary society Through a series of fairy tales The Happiness Illusion How the media sold us a fairytale looks at topics such as age gender marriage and rom coms Nordic Noir and the representations of therapy on television In doing so it explores alternative ways to relate to the world in a symbolic and less literal manner it suggests that happiness comes by making sure we don't fall under the spell of the illusionary promises of contemporary television and advertising Instead happiness comes from being ourselves warts and all This book will be of interest to Jungian academics film media and cultural studies academics social psychologists and their students as well as reaching out to those interested in fairy tale
