Handbook of Mouse Mutations with Skin and Hair Abnormalities John P. Sundberg, 1994-05-19 Handbook of Mouse Mutations with Skin and Hair Abnormalities presents 48 mouse mutations that are all available to the biomedical community. Many of the mouse mutations with dermatological diseases are reviewed and illustrated in detail. This popular reference book gives you a single source to use when determining which mouse mutation will best serve your needs as a biomedical tool for sophisticated research projects. The book also includes an overview of domestic animal genodermatoses to provide alternatives to mouse models that do not exist or to complement those that do. A detailed section written by renowned experts compares the biology of human and mouse skin and skin diseases in the areas of development and the use of animal models, mammalian genetics, keratin biochemistry, epidermal and hair follicle cycles and kinetics, cytokines and growth factors, keratinocyte culture systems, cutaneous carcinogenesis, cutaneous immune system and skin changes associated with mutations of the endocrine system.

Handbook of hair in health and disease Victor R. Preedy, 2012-05-23 Hair is a major component of the body's tissue system that contributes to the individual's make-up and confers a large degree of personal identity. Apart from its visible facade, hair also has a functional role. It has a unique structure and complex molecular development. The very nature of hair makes it a suitable marker for the prognosis of disease. Hair can also be used to screen for toxins and changes in the diet. However, there are currently no suitable publications available that describe hair in a rational scientific context. This handbook provides an academic approach to hair in health and disease. Divided into five sections, the Handbook of Hair in Health and Disease provides an insight into hair growth and loss, molecular and cellular biology of hair, dietary toxicity and pathological history, diseases and treatments of hair, as well as shampoos and conditioners. Unique features of each chapter in this volume include relevant and useful key facts which highlight interesting or important findings of the specific subjects and summary points that will give a clear overview of the subjects treated in each chapter.

The Handbook of Hair in Health and Disease will be essential to a variety of users such as trichologists doctors and nurses and all those interested or working within the area of hair health This includes nutritionists and dieticians scientific beauticians health workers and practitioners college and university lecturers and undergraduate and graduate students proposes that rather than trying to discern the normative value of Afropolitanism as an identificatory concept politics ethics constellation that allows us to glimpse the shifting and multiple silhouettes which Africa as signifier as real and imagined locus embodies in the globalized yet predominantly Western cultural landscape of the 21st century As such Making Black History looks at contemporary fictions of the African or Black Diaspora that have been written and received in the moment of Afropolitanism Discursively this moment is very much part of a diasporic conversation that takes place in the US and is thus informed by various negotiations of blackness race class and cultural identity Yet rather than interpreting Afropolitan literatures merely as a rejection of racial solidarity as some commentators have they should be read as ambivalent responses to post racial discourses dominating the first decade of the 21st century particularly in the US which oscillate between moments of intense hope and acute disappointment Please read our interview with Dominique Haensell here <https://blog.degruyter.com/degruyters/10th-open-access-book-anniversary-dominique-haensell-and-her-winning-title-making-black-history>
