Lawson, 2017-10-30 Infants and Children in the Church addresses an important but often overlooked theological and ministry issue facing the church today How should churches receive and minister to the infants and children God has entrusted to their care Evangelical Lutheran Church in America 2006 Yearbook Augsburg Fortress Pub, 2005-12 Lutheranism 101 Charles R. Lehmann, 2013 Lutheranism 101 Holy Baptism examines how Jesus establishes Baptism as the sacrament that makes us children of God and delivers the gracious gifts of God forgiveness of sins rescue from death and the devil and eternal salvation to all who believe this Whether you are a lifelong Lutheran or new to Lutheranism and wondering what Holy Baptism is all about this book will be your guide Lutheranism 101 Holy Baptism digs into the basics of Lutheran theology examines the importance of Holy Baptism for the believer explores how Holy Baptism shapes the whole life of a believer makes connections between Holy Baptism and the whole of Lutheran doctrine and teaching Book jacket Cold War Kids Marilyn Irvin Holt, 2014-06-06 Today we take it for granted that political leaders and presidential administrations will address issues related to children and teenagers But in the not so distant past politicians had little to say and federal programs less to do with children except those of very specific populations This book shows how the Cold War changed all that Against the backdrop of the postwar baby boom and the rise of a distinct teen culture Cold War Kids unfolds the little known story of how politics and federal policy expanded their influence in shaping children's lives and experiences making way for the youth attuned political culture that we've come to expect. In the first part of the twentieth century narrow and incremental policies focused on children were the norm. And then in the postwar years monumental events such as the introduction of the Salk vaccine or the Soviet launch of Sputnik delivered jolts to the body politic producing a federal response that included all children. Cold War Kids charts the changes that followed making the mid twentieth century a turning point in federal action directly affecting children and teenagers. With the 1950 and 1960 White House Conferences on Children and Youth as a framework Marilyn Irvin Holt examines childhood policy and children's experience in relation to population shifts suburbia divorce and family stability working mothers and the influence of television. Here we see how the government driven by a Cold War mentality was becoming ever more involved in aspects of health education and welfare even as the baby boom shaped American thought promoting societal acceptance of the argument that all children not just the poorest and neediest merited their government's attention. This period largely viewed as a time of stagnation in studies of children and childhood after World War II emerges in Holt's cogent account as a distinct period in the history of children in America.

Child Welfare for the Twenty-first Century Gerald P. Mallon, Peg McCartt Hess, 2005. This up to date and comprehensive resource by leaders in child welfare is the first book to reflect the impact of the Adoption and Safe Families Act (ASFA) of 1997. The text serves as a single source reference for a wide array of professionals who work in children youth and family services in the United States: policymakers social workers psychologists educators attorneys guardians ad litem and family court judges and as a text for students of child welfare practice and policy. Features include: Organized around ASFA's guiding principles of well being safety and permanency. Focus on evidence based best practices. Case examples integrated throughout. First book to include data from the first round of National Child and Family Service Reviews. Topics discussed include the latest on prevention of child abuse and neglect and child protective services risk and resilience in child development engaging families connecting families with public and community resources health and mental health care needs of children and adolescents domestic violence substance abuse in the family family preservation services family support services and the integration of family centered practices in child welfare gay and lesbian adolescents and their families children with disabilities and runaway and homeless youth. The contributors also explore issues pertaining to foster care and adoption including a focus on permanency planning for children and youth and the need to provide services that are individualized and culturally and spiritually responsive to clients. A review of salient systemic issues in the field of children youth and family services completes this collection.
