Greek Photographs Metamorphoses:

Metamorphoses Daniel Schwartz, 1986 Metamorphoses Kunsthaus. Zürich, Stiftung für die Photographie Schweiz, 1986 Myth and Metamorphosis Lisa Florman, 2002-08-23 A radical new interpretation of Picasso and his relation to the classical seen through the artist's prints of the 1930s Metamorphosis, Landscape, and Trauma in Greco-Roman Myth Esther Eidinow, 2025-09-30 This study explores the hidden histories offered by Greco-Roman myths of metamorphosis and what they can reveal about the lived experience of ancient men and women. It investigates the role of the body and the embodied experiences of emotions in these stories, arguing that these narratives of transformation allow us to glimpse aspects of our historical subjects which in other sources remain largely unseen. In these narratives of metamorphosis we discover ancient worldviews; they disclose the perceived interrelationships of human, non-human, and more-than-human entities. They show us that the human body was understood not only as a part of an extended network of beings but also to consist of and interact with the same substances that were believed to comprise the surrounding landscapes: earth, air, fire, and water. By grouping together stories according to these elements, this study highlights the patterns that underline different metamorphoses, comparing the experiences of male and female protagonists. These stories, it argues, express risks of transgressions both for individuals and for the wider community. They tell us about the dangers that were perceived to be inherent in social roles and in relations with the gods; they describe bodies both at risk and of risk. And among those risks are extreme emotions appearing as both cause and result of these startling bodily changes. These are narratives of the body that capture one of its most ephemeral aspects: the experience of intense, even traumatic emotions in which a person and the world around them comes to seem transformed. Drawing on psychological research, this study suggests that these stories evoke experiences that persist across time and place, conveying an experience of the emotional body that speaks to us still. Greek Jewry in the Twentieth Century, 1913-1983 Joshua Eli Plaut, 2000 This book is a study of post-Holocaust Jewish survival in the Greek provinces Creation, Transformation and Metamorphosis Mário S. Ming Kong, Maria do Rosário Monteiro, Maria João Pereira Neto, 2025-07-29 The texts presented in Proportion, Harmonies and Identities PHI: Creation, Transformation and Metamorphosis were compiled to establish a multidisciplinary platform for presenting, interacting and disseminating research. It also aims to foster awareness and discussion on Creation, Transformation and Metamorphosis, focusing on different visions relevant to Architecture, Arts and Humanities, Design and Social Sciences, and its importance and benefits for the sense of identity, both individual and communal. Creation, Transformation and Metamorphosis has been a powerful motor for development since the Western Early Modern Age. Its theoretical and practical foundations have become the working tools of scientists, philosophers and artists seeking strategies and policies to accelerate development in different contexts. Modern Art and the Idea of the Mediterranean Wojtech Jirat-Wasiutyński, Anne Elizabeth

Dymond, Wojciech Jirat-Wasiutyński, 2007-01-01 The Mediterranean is an invented cultural space on the frontier between North and South West and East Modern Art and the Idea of the Mediterranean examines the representation of this region in the visual arts since the late eighteenth century placing the idea of the Mediterranean a cultural construct rather than a physical reality at the centre of our understanding of modern visual culture This collection of essays features an international group of scholars who examine competing visions of the Mediterranean in terms of modernity and cultural identity questioning and illuminating both European and non European representations An introductory essay frames the analysis in terms of a new spatial paradigm of the Mediterranean as a geographic historical and cultural region that emerged in the late eighteenth century as France and Britain colonized the surrounding territories Essays are grouped around three vital themes visualization of the space of the new Mediterranean varied uses of the classical paradigm and issues of identity and resistance in an age of modernity and colonialism Drawing on recent geographical historical cultural and anthropological studies contributors address the visual representation of identity in both the European and the Oriental the colonial and post colonial Mediterranean

The Pool Group and the Quest for Anthropological Universality Betsy van

Schlun, 2016-11-21 Pool was an avant garde group that originated in 1927 in Britain and was active under this name until

1933 The group consisted of the well known modernist poet H D the English writer Bryher and the young Scottish writer and artist Kenneth Macpherson All three were first and foremost writers who at one point discovered film as another modern experimental medium of artistic expression Pool associated with almost all the iconic modernists of their time with Ezra Pound Gertrude Stein Ernest Hemmingway James Joyce Marianne Moore William Carlos Williams T S Eliot and Virginia Woolf to name only a few In addition due to their interest in film they were also befriended with such influential filmmakers as Sergei Eisenstein and Georg Wilhelm Pabst and became closely associated with Weimar Berlin film culture Pool unites classical Modernism and modernity two directions that are usually considered to be contradictory The Pool phenomenon opens a new perspective onto Modernism and prompts a reconsideration of its canonical texts and figures. Contrary to many artists of Modernism who devised highly individualistic aesthetic styles, the artists of Pool strove towards a universal art of humanity that was rooted in all human nature and psychology.
