Readings in African Politics Tom Young, 2003 Table of contents

Urban Biodiversity and Equity Max Lambert, Christopher Schell, 2023-09-28 This advanced textbook moves beyond a basic scientific comprehension of urban ecosystems to understand the essential details of how scientists policy makers and practitioners develop solutions to effectively manage urban biodiversity Such efforts necessitate unravelling the complex components that bolster or constrain biodiversity including human wildlife interactions resource availability climate fluctuations novel species relationships and landscape heterogeneity However key to an understanding of these processes is also recognizing the tremendous social variation inherent within and across urban areas The diversity of urban human communities fundamentally shapes how society designs builds and manages urban landscapes This means that urban environmental management unavoidably must account for human social variation Unfortunately urban systems have a history and continued legacy of social inequality e g systemic racism and classism that govern how cities are both built and managed This novel text not only highlights these connections but also illustrates the interdisciplinary approaches needed for advancing a new justice centred approach to nature conservation Urban Biodiversity and Equity is suitable for graduate level students and professional researchers from both natural and social science disciplines studying the ecology conservation and management of urban environments and their biodiversity It will also be of relevance and use to a broader audience of urban ecologists urban planners and urban wildlife practitioners

Environment and Society Charles Harper, 2015-08-26 This book discusses human connections and impacts on the environment and vice versa and examines suggestions for changing the human environment relationship to a more sustainable environment It provides students and interested readers with an introduction to environmental issues

The Routledge Handbook of Environmental Justice Ryan Holifield, Jayajit Chakraborty, Gordon Walker, 2017-09-14 The Routledge Handbook of Environmental Justice presents an extensive and cutting edge introduction to the diverse rapidly growing body of research on pressing issues of environmental justice and injustice. With wide ranging discussion of current debates, controversies and questions in the history, theory and methods of environmental justice research contributed by over 90 leading social scientists, natural scientists, humanists and scholars from professional disciplines from six continents, it is an essential resource both for newcomers to this research and for experienced scholars and practitioners. The chapters of this volume examine the roots of environmental justice activism, lay out and assess key theories and approaches and consider the many different substantive issues that have been the subject of activism, empirical research and policy development throughout the world. The Handbook features critical reviews of quantitative, qualitative and mixed methodological approaches and explicitly addresses interdisciplinarity, transdisciplinarity and engaged research. Instead of adopting a narrow regional focus, it tackles substantive issues and presents perspectives from political and cultural systems across the world, as well as addressing activism for environmental justice at the global scale. Its chapters do not simply review the state of the art but also propose new conceptual frameworks and directions for research, policy and practice. Providing detailed but accessible overviews of the complex, varied dimensions of environmental justice and injustice, the Handbook is an essential guide and reference not only for researchers engaged with environmental justice but also for undergraduate and graduate teaching and for policymakers and activists.

The Routledge Companion to Gender and Animals Chloë Taylor, 2024-05-31. The Routledge Companion to Gender and Animals is a diverse and intersectional collection which examines human and more than human animal relations as well as the interconnectedness of human and animal oppressions through various lenses. Comprising fifty chapters, the book explores a range of debates and scholarship within important contemporary topics such as companion animals, hunting, agriculture and animal activist strategies. It also offers timely analyses of zoonotic disease, pandemics, mass extinction and the climate catastrophe using perspectives including feminist, critical race, anti-colonial, critical disability and masculinities studies. The Routledge Companion to Gender and Animals is an essential reference for students in gender studies, sexuality studies, human animal studies, cultural studies, sociology and environmental studies.

Women's Lifeworlds Edith Sizoo, 2002-11-01. Women's Lifeworlds explores the diversity and complexity of women's perceptions and reactions to their own lifeworlds in their own words. Examining the changing meaning of place in women's lives over time and across space, this book questions how women face, negotiate and shape the social space of their environment. Engaging personal narratives are presented by fifteen women of various age groups from different cultural, religious, social and geographical backgrounds, from Mexican politician, Muslim psychiatrist, Finnish housewife to Indian guru and African rural woman. Writing about the lives of their grandmothers, mothers, themselves, their daughters or other close female relatives, the authors of these life narratives cross generational and cultural divides and share perceptions with each other. This unique inter-generational approach provides an engaging challenge to the generalised assumptions of how women in various historical and cultural contexts feel.
