Green Rice Poems By Lam Thi My Da:

Green Rice Thị Mỹ Dạ Lâm, 2005 When Edward Hirsch reprinted Da's Garden Fragrance and Night Harvest from Six Vietnamese Poets in his column in The Washington Post he gave special praise to the simultaneous clarity and complexity of Da's poetry Now for the first time in English readers can enjoy a full volume of her selected work Many of her poems deal with her experiences during the war but her range of themes is wide including love motherhood women's issues and the sometimes difficult movement into middle age Garden Fragrance Last night a bomb exploded on the veranda But sounds of birds sweeten the air this morning Find two silent clusters of ripe guavas White Water Lily Like a sudden feeling of gladness A small white water lily appears In a vast wind on a deep blue lake Only the faltering lily speaks Clear and pure as when I lay Lullabied in my cradle Born in 1949 in the south central part of Viet Nam Lam Thi My Da spent the war in Quang Binh province near the scene of much heavy fighting Author of five books of poetry in Vietnamese she is widely recognized one of the Vietnam's major poets

Night Unto Night Martha Collins, 2018-03-13 In this luminous companion to Day unto Day the acclaimed poet seeks to reconcile beauty and horror joy and mortality the personal and the political Publishers Weekly starred review Like its predecessor Day unto Day this new collection presents six sequences each written in one month a year over the course of six years It brings together the natural and the all too human red winged blackbirds and the death of a friend the green leaves of a maple tree and drones overseas a February spent in Italy and the persistence of anti immigrant rhetoric Dissonance is a permanent state Collins suggests something to be occupied rather than solved And so this collection lives in the space between these seeming contrasts and in the space between stanzas sequences days and months These poems speak to and revisit each other borrowing a word or a line before turning it on end

Day Unto Day Martha Collins, 2014-03-18 The William Carlos Williams Award winning poet shares a new collection of musically brilliant psychologically intricate meditations on time Kevin Prufer This hauntingly spare and subtle poetry collection consists of six sequences during one month each year for six years Martha Collins wrote a short poem each day With perfectly distilled lines she captures the aching liminal beauty of one day becoming another the slow burn of time passing the ambiguity of an old new leaf turning over even as she collages a wide range of material that includes often disturbing news of the world Writing in the tradition of poetic meditation Collins shows us the full degree of her mastery a mature voice poems with tremendous scope and lines exceptionally controlled Here is the work of a seasoned poet at the height of her career

Inheriting the War Laren McClung, 2017-11-07 Descendants of Vietnam veterans and refugees confront the aftermath of war and in verse and prose deliver another kind of war story Fifty years after the Vietnam War this anthology by descendants of Vietnam veterans and refugees American Vietnamese Vietnamese Diaspora Hmong Australian and others confronts war and its aftermath What emerges is an affecting portrait of the effects of war and family an intercultural generational dialogue on silence memory landscape imagination Agent Orange displacement postwar trauma and the severe realities that are carried
