1. How does Dickens reinforce Pip and Joe's closeness?

Use the following passage from the book to answer the next two questions.

"That was a memorable day to me, for it made great changes in me. But, it is the same way with any life.

Imagine one selected day struck out of it, and think how different its course would have been. Pause, you who read this, and think for a moment of the long chain of iron or gold, of thorns or flowers, that would never have bound you, but for the formation of the first link on one memorable day" (55).

2. What "links" in Pip's "chain" are begun the day he visits Satis House?
3. Why do you think Dickens allows the narrator to pause in the narrative and address the reader directly?
