The Commerce of Peoples Biman Basu,2012-03-15 Representations and coverage of S M have become quite common nowadays whether we see them in the fashion industry commercials the news on television film the internet and so on But in the population at large and in the academic community too it is still persistently stigmatized This marginalization along with its ambivalently persecuted status is a result significantly of a nineteenth century legacy This legacy begins with Kraftt Ebing s designation of sadomasochism along with gay and lesbian desire as a perversion and continues in the popular and expert mis understandings which prevail More generally most people today will recognize that all human relations are power relations Yet most people will also deny this and mask these power relations by invoking all sorts of things like romantic love sentimental attachment companionate marriage friendship peace non violence harmony and the list goes on ad nauseam Not that these do not exist in a sadomasochistic relation but sadomasochists are unflinching in their recognition that all of these are also permeated by power relations It is not only impossible to purge these relations of power but for sadomasochists it is also undesirable to do so It is not only more honest to acknowledge the power that saturates these relations but also more instructive in the sense that S M provides a context in which one learns to exercise power and to submit to it in a responsible way Even in scholarly critical and theoretical discussions of S M the prevailing opinion is that the power exercised in sadomasochism is not real It is of course not real in the sense that slavery and violence no longer has a legal status But reality cannot of course be gauged or even approximated by its legal status alone For most practitioners it is hard to deny the reality of pain of humiliation of degradation in the moment of its enactment One can hardly deny the reality of bringing the whip down on someone's back or of having it sear across one's buttocks
