Lost Masterpieces Architecture 3s:

Frank Lloyd Wright and Mason City Roy R. Behrens, 2016-12-05 A superb study of what a stellar group of architects accomplished in the Iowa locale not to mention the vision of the locals. In the early 1900s Frank Lloyd Wright transformed a small midwestern prairie community into one of the world's most important architectural destinations. Mason City, Iowa, became home to his City National Bank and Park Inn, the last surviving Wright hotel. In addition, his prototype Stockman House helped launch the Prairie School architectural style. Soon after architect Walter Burley Griffin followed in Wright's footsteps, designing a cluster of Prairie School homes in the Rock Crest Rock Glen neighborhood. Design historian Roy Behrens leads the way through Mason City's historic development from the Industrial Revolution to the modern era of Frank Lloyd Wright. Includes photos. A fine job of showcasing Wright's work in Mason City while incorporating some of Wright's personal and scandalous history with the evolution of this north central Iowa town. The Poetry of Sight Dürer's

Lost Masterpiece Ulinka Rublack, 2023 Dürer's Lost Masterpiece tracks the history of a turning point in the career of the celebrated German artist Albrecht Dürer 1471-1528 when he stopped painting altarpieces after arguing with a merchant patron over payment. As an eloquent homage to Dürer's life, it brings us closer to the creation and meaning of his paintings than ever before. Dürer's Lost Masterpiece considers the celebrated German artist Albrecht Dürer 1471-1528, his time and his legacy. It tracks the history of a crucial and often overlooked turning point in his career when Dürer stopped painting altarpieces after falling out with the Frankfurt merchant Jacob Heller over a commission. The story of this painting as Dürer's lost masterpiece functions as a lens through which to view the new relationship developing between art collecting and commerce in Europe up to the Thirty Years War 1618-1648 when global trade and cultural exchanges were increasing. At the heart of the book is the argument that merchants and their mentalities were crucial for the making of Renaissance art and its legacy for modern art. The book draws on a decade of research and uniquely draws the reader into the rich emotional worlds of three merchants, each of whom typified the evolving relationship between art and commerce in that entrepreneurial and often ruthless age. It brings to life Dürer's determined fight for creative makers to be adequately paid and explores the big questions about how European societies came to value the arts and crafts that remain relevant to our time. Bibliographic

Guide to Art and Architecture New York Public Library. Art and Architecture Division, 2001 Lost Masterpieces Sir Joseph Paxton, John McKean, 1999 Part of a series that aims to place buildings within their historical context, this text considers Paxton's Crystal Palace, McKim, Mead & White's Pennsylvania Station, and Dutert's Palais des Machines. It includes specially produced technical drawings that explain how the buildings were detailed and put together. The text explains why a knowledge of these structures is vital to an understanding of the history of architecture as well as these buildings with their innovative approaches to design and new technology paved the way for the modern architectural movement. Orte und Ihre Geschichte(n) Susan Ingram, 2003 Oriental Visions Nicky Levell, Nicola Levell, 2000 Through the biography of Frederick

The Long Lives of Medieval Art and Architecture Jennifer M. Feltman, Sarah Thompson, 2019-03-08 Traditional histories of medieval art and architecture often privilege the moment of a work's creation yet surviving works designated as medieval have long and expansive lives Many have extended prehistories emerging from their sites and contexts of creation and most have undergone a variety of interventions including adaptations and restorations since coming into being The lives of these works have been further extended through historiography museum exhibitions and digital media Inspired by the literary category of biography and the methods of longue durée historians the introduction and seventeen chapters of this volume provide an extended meditation on the longevity of medieval works of art and the aspect of time as a factor in shaping our interpretations of them While the metaphor of lives invokes associations with the origin of the discipline of art history focus is shifted away from temporal constraints of a single human lifespan or generation to consider the continued lives of medieval works even into our present moment Chapters on works from the modern countries of Italy France England Spain and Germany are drawn together here by the thematic threads of essence and continuity transformation memory and oblivion and restoration Together they tell an object oriented history of art and architecture that is necessarily entangled with numerous individuals and institutions
