

IN CONGRESS, JULY 4, 1776.

Unanimous Declaration of the thirteen united States of America,

When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bonds which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation. We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. — That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. — That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shewn, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object, evinces a design to reduce them to absolute Tyranny, it is their duty, at the very moment when such Usurpations are commenced, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security. — Such has been the patient Sufferance of these Colonies, and such has been the lengthy Train of Abuses and Usurpations growing out of the History of the present King of Great Britain, that in the Name of the most holy Trinity, we deem it incumbent upon us to lay our separate Stations upon the World, as free and independent States; and to assume among the Powers of the earth, the equal Rank with those to which we claim to be entitled. In this view of our Situation, we are inclined to declare, that we are, and of right ought to be, free and independent States; that we have dissolved all political Connection with Great Britain, and that we regard ourselves as free States, so that all former Attachments of Subjecthood are hereby disclaimed. That the Prince of Great Britain is, in consequence of this Declaration, to be regarded as a Foreign Power, and that his Majesty's Subjects are to be regarded as Subjects of the United States. That the Declaration of Independence is hereby declared to be the act of the Representatives of the People of the United States, in Congress assembled, and that the same shall be ratified and confirmed by the Approbation of the People of the United States, in a Convention to be held on the fourth day of September next, at Philadelphia, in order to give full effect to the same.
