Jerome,2015-03-04 We were all feeling seedy and we were getting quite nervous about it Harris said he felt such extraordinary fits of giddiness come over him at times that he hardly knew what he was doing and then George said that he had fits of giddiness too and hardly knew what he was doing With me it was my liver that was out of order I knew it was my liver that was out of order because I had just been reading a patent liver pill circular in which were detailed the various symptoms by which a man could tell when his liver was out of order I had them all It is a most extraordinary thing but I never read a patent medicine advertisement without being impelled to the conclusion that I am suffering from the particular disease therein dealt with in its most virulent form The diagnosis seems in every case to correspond exactly with all the sensations that I have ever felt Novel Notes Jerome Klapka Jerome,1894 Novel Notes Jerome K. Ethelbertha was very young when we started housekeeping Our first butcher very nearly lost her custom I remember once and for ever by calling her Missie and giving her a message to take back to her mother She arrived home in tears She said that perhaps she wasn't fit to be anybody's wife but she did not see why she should be told so by the tradespeople She was naturally somewhat inexperienced in domestic affairs and feeling this keenly was grateful to any one who would give her useful hints and advice When MacShaughnassy came along he seemed in her eyes a sort of glorified Mrs Beeton He knew everything wanted to be known inside a house from the scientific method of peeling a potato to the cure of spasms in cats and Ethelbertha would sit at his feet figuratively speaking and gain enough information in one evening to make the house unlivable in for a month Delphi Complete Works of Jerome K. Supper Jerome K. Jerome,2015-03-04 But as time went on it grew to be a bit a bore You see it was full of sadness There was nothing cheerful or genial about it You felt sorry for it but it irritated you It would sit on the stairs and cry for hours at a stretch and whenever we woke up in the night one was sure to hear it pottering about the passages and in and out of the different rooms moaning and sighing so that we could not get to sleep again very easily And when we had a party on it would come and sit outside the drawing room door and sob all the time It did not do anybody any harm exactly but it cast a gloom over the whole affair Oh I m getting sick of this old fool said the Pater one evening the Dad can be very blunt when he is put out as you know after Johnson had been more of a nuisance than usual and had spoiled a good game of whist by sitting up the chimney and groaning till nobody knew what were trumps or what suit had been led even We shall have to get rid of him somehow or other I wish I knew how to do it
