Joe Coleman Internal Digging:

Joe Coleman: Internal Digging Susanne Pfeffer, Joe Coleman, 2007 Gary Snyder has been a major cultural force in America for five decades prize winning poet environmental activist Zen Buddhist earth householder and reluctant counterculture guru Having expanded far beyond the Beat scene that first brought his work to the public ear and eye Snyder has produced a broad ranging body of work that encompasses his fluency in Eastern literature and culture his commitment to the environment and his concepts of humanity's place in the cosmos Prose selections include journals from his travels to Saigon Singapore Kyoto Ceylon New Delhi and Dharamshala key interviews from the East West Journal and The Paris Review meditations on Buddhism and the surrender of self a cultural survey of communal living and notes from the lookout tower on Sourdough Mountain where in stark isolation Snyder once watched for forest fires The Reader gathers poems from each phase of Snyder's long career from his first collection Riprap to the Pulitzer Prize winning Turtle Island through his epic poem cycle that was forty years in the making Mountains and Rivers Without End From freighter to firetower Zendo to Himalayan mountain ridge Snyder's writings reflect a lifetime of study journey and the practice of everyday mindfulness Gary Snyder has witnessed and captured our culture at the hinge of change and time and again his work has transformed us just as it has altered our understanding of literature and place in a purposeful life I, Monster David Taransaud, 2017-07-05 I, Monster is a resource for all professionals in health and education who work with challenging young people The book aims to explain the issues behind challenging behaviour to enable empathy and to facilitate a more productive therapeutic relationship between the health education professional and the child I, Monster is divided into three parts Part one suggests that our greatest foes lurk deep within ourselves and that knowing our own darkness is the best method for dealing with the darkness of other people Jung 1973 Part two focuses on the inner world of adolescents who use aggression to manage early terrors Part three explores approaches and strategies to help them heal the pain of the past Full of case studies as well as coverage of key concepts and theory this book offers a fascinating insight into the minds of the young people you work with Films that Spill Marie Sophie Beckmann, 2025 Films That Spill takes up a previously understudied moment in 1980s underground culture in New York City called Cinema of Transgression offering both a microhistory of the intermingling art music performance and film scenes of the time and a glimpse into their afterlives Raw Vision, 2008 The Lampshade Mark Jacobson, 2010-09-14 Few growing up in the aftermath of World War II will ever forget the horrifying reports that Nazi concentration camp doctors had removed the skin of prisoners to make common everyday lampshades In The Lampshade bestselling journalist Mark Jacobson tells the story of how he came into possession of one of these awful objects and of his search to establish the origin and larger meaning of what can only be described as an icon of terror Jacobson's mind bending historical moral and philosophical journey into the recent past and his own soul begins in Hurricane Katrina ravaged New Orleans It is only months after the storm with America's most romantic city still in tatters when Skip Henderson an old friend of Jacobson s purchases an item at a rummage sale a very strange looking and oddly textured lampshade When he asks what it s made of the seller a man covered with jailhouse tattoos replies That s made from the skin of Jews The price 35 A few days later Henderson sends the lampshade to Jacobson saying You re the journalist you find out what it is The lampshade couldn t possibly be real could it But it is DNA analysis proves it This revelation sends Jacobson halfway around the world to Yad Vashem in Jerusalem and to the Buchenwald concentration camp in Germany where the lampshades were supposedly made on the order of the infamous Bitch of Buchenwald Ilse Koch From the time he grew up in Queens New York in the 1950s Jacobson has heard stories about the human skin lampshade and knew it to be the ultimate symbol of Nazi cruelty Now he has one of these things in his house with a DNA report to prove it and almost everything he finds out about it is contradictory mysterious shot through with legend and specious information Through interviews with forensic experts famous Holocaust scholars and deniers Buchenwald survivors and liberators and New Orleans thieves and cops Jacobson gradually comes to see the lampshade as a ghostly illuminator of his own existential status as a Jew and to understand exactly what that means in the context of human responsibility One question looms as his search goes on what to do with the lampshade this unsettling thing that used to be someone It is a difficult dilemma to be sure but far from the last one since once a lampshade of human skin enters your life it is very very hard to forget Kino der Blinden Achim Geisenhanslücke, Rasmus

Everyone Loves a Good Train Wreck Eric G. Wilson, 2012-02-14 Why can t we look away Whether we admit it or not we re fascinated by evil Dark fantasies morbid curiosities Schadenfreude As conventional wisdom has it these are the symptoms of our wicked side and we succumb to them at our own peril But we re still compelled to look whenever we pass a grisly accident on the highway and there s no slaking our thirst for gory entertainments like horror movies and police procedurals What makes these spectacles so irresistible In Everyone Loves a Good Train Wreck the scholar Eric G Wilson sets out to discover the source of our attraction to the caustic drawing on the findings of biologists sociologists psychologists anthropologists philosophers theologians and artists A professor of English literature and a lifelong student of the macabre Wilson believes there s something nourishing in darkness To repress death is to lose the feeling of life he writes A closeness to death discloses our most fertile energies His examples are legion and startling in their diversity Citing everything from elephant graveyards and Susan Sontag s On Photography to the Tiger Woods sex scandal and Steel Magnolias Wilson finds heartening truths wherever he confronts death In Everyone Loves a Good Train Wreck the perverse is never far from the sublime The result is a powerful and delightfully provocative defense of what it means to be human for better and for worse
