Description and operation

The gear pump, rotated by the gears at the rear of the fly wheel, pumps the lubricating oil directly to the heat exchanger which, incorporated in the block and cooled by the coolant, reduces temperature to maintain optimal lubricating capacity. The thermostat valve that regulates oil flow is located at the rear of the heat exchanger, opening the bypass pipe if temperature falls below lubrication temperature. From the output of the heat exchanger the oil is sent to the filter assembly and from this back to the engine block to lubricate all circulation elements.

The bypass vapor condenser provided with filter and safety valve, is located on the upper part of the timing mechanism. The vapors, after returning to the liquid state, will flow from the vapor condenser into the pump. The engine is provided with the pre-lubrication system on request. This can inject enough oil into the engine's ducts to guarantee a totally safe start.

The operation of the electrical pre-lubrication pump (on request) is automatically controlled by the ECU electronic unit.

The system, with the aid of the flow-switching solenoid valve, also permits the oil pump to be emptied and filled.
