My Favorite Match Jon Robinson, 2012-07-31 Remember the time Goldust ran over Rowdy Roddy Piper in his gold Cadillac? How about when Randy Orton battled Mick Foley with a barbed wire bat named Barbie? When you ask a WWE Superstar what his favorite match is, you might be surprised by his answer. But that's the thing about a phrase like favorite match: It's not about the greatest match in their careers or the time they won their first title. It's about the moments that stand out and make them smile. Sometimes it's the same smile they had when they left the ring face full of blood and sweat to the roars of thousands. Sometimes it's the smile they tried so hard to hide when anything and everything seemed to go so wrong that even the ring announcer was accidentally injured in their struggle. And sometimes it's the smile only the showmen themselves share with each other as brothers in battle with one goal in mind: doing whatever it takes to put on the best show possible, even if it means landing on a few thousand thumbtacks along the way. These are their stories straight from the Superstars who performed some of the most memorable matches in WWE history. These are the most unexpected, the most brutal, the most hilarious and the most unforgettable moments of their careers captured in their own words.
