

A stylized, high-contrast illustration of a city skyline. The skyline is rendered in dark red and black silhouettes against a light blue background. The buildings vary in height and shape, with some featuring pointed roofs. A prominent, dark, vertical structure, possibly a bridge or a tall building, stands out in the center. The overall style is graphic and modern.

Makeshift Metropolis Ideas About Cities:

Makeshift Metropolis Witold Rybczynski, 2010-11-09 In this new work prizewinning author professor and Slate architecture critic Witold Rybczynski returns to the territory he knows best writing about the way people live just as he did in the acclaimed bestsellers Home and A Clearing in the Distance In Makeshift Metropolis Rybczynski has drawn upon a lifetime of observing cities to craft a concise and insightful book that is at once an intellectual history and a masterful critique Makeshift Metropolis describes how current ideas about urban planning evolved from the movements that defined the twentieth century such as City Beautiful the Garden City and the seminal ideas of Frank Lloyd Wright and Jane Jacobs If the twentieth century was the age of planning we now find ourselves in the age of the market Rybczynski argues where entrepreneurial developers are shaping the twenty first century city with mixed use developments downtown living heterogeneity density and liveliness He introduces readers to projects like Brooklyn Bridge Park the Yards in Washington D C and further afield to the new city of Modi in Israel sites that in this age of resource scarcity economic turmoil and changing human demands challenge our notion of the city Erudite and immensely engaging Makeshift Metropolis is an affirmation of Rybczynski's role as one of our most original thinkers on the way we live today

Creating Cities/Building Cities Peter Karl Kresl, Daniele Ietri, 2017-12-29 For the past 150 years architecture has been a significant tool in the hands of city planners and leaders In Creating Cities Building Cities Peter Karl Kresl and Daniele Ietri illustrate how these planners and leaders have utilized architecture to achieve a variety of aims influencing the situation perception and competitiveness of their cities

Urban Histories in Practice Jeffrey Kruth, Steven Rugare, 2022-09-08 This volume brings together ideas about the material and social transformation of cities by asking what is the relationship between history memory and the contemporary city The urgency of this question grows in the contexts of rapid urbanization in the Global South and urban decline in the deindustrializing areas of the Global North Within these spaces multiple disciplines shape our capacity to know the contemporary city The work presented here invites the reader to undertake critical and creative approaches regarding how these disciplines might shape this process ultimately making it more equitable and just Using various methods the contributors engage in critical readings of specific built and discursive legacies in numerous global contexts Differing forms of a social agenda permeate each piece but none is utopian or totalizing Rather the emphasis is on various forms of close reading The authors begin with the city as found and address each context in specific and precise terms The contributions here bring together histories in critical and creative ways while also catalyzing future possibilities In this way these writings frame urban history and morphology discourse not only as arenas for theoretical posturing but also as calls for action

Urban-Rural Interfaces David N. Laband, B. Graeme Lockaby, 2020-01-22 What is the urban rural interface Is it a visual phenomenon a place where country gives way to neighborhoods and shopping areas in a startling way Is it a simple factor of population density There is nothing simple about the urban rural interface editors David Laband Graeme Lockaby and Wayne

Zipperer present the broad spectrum of interdisciplinary complexities at play Organized into three sections on changing ecosystems changing human dimensions and the dynamic integration of human and natural systems this book is a must read for anyone who works in the real world where natural and human systems are joined This is the new sustainability science an emerging discipline that integrates social and economic values with the physical chemical and ecological functions of ecosystems The goal is optimal management since our human impact is often significant and far reaching in both space and time

Building American Public Health R. Lopez, 2012-05-04 This historical study looks at how reformers have used urban planning and architecture to improve the health of urban residents of the United States It begins in the nineteenth century when problems in rapidly urbanizing cities threatened to overwhelm cities and then traces the development and impact of reform movements up through the First World War including discussions of model tenements the city beautiful movement tenement laws and zoning and building codes Midcentury design movements such as new efforts to plan suburbs and Modernism along with outlines of the impacts of public housing highway building and urban renewal are the focus of the middle chapters of the book The final third examines the revival of cities and the reconnection of public health with urban planning that occurred as the twentieth century ended

City on the Verge Mark Pendergrast, 2017-05-16 What we can learn from Atlanta's struggle to reinvent itself in the 21st Century Atlanta is on the verge of tremendous rebirth or inexorable decline A kind of Petri dish for cities struggling to reinvent themselves Atlanta has the highest income inequality in the country gridlocked highways suburban sprawl and a history of racial injustice Yet it is also an energetic brash young city that prides itself on pragmatic solutions Today the most promising catalyst for the city's rebirth is the BeltLine which the New York Times described as a staggeringly ambitious engine of urban revitalization A long term project that is cutting through forty five neighborhoods ranging from affluent to impoverished the BeltLine will complete a twenty two mile loop encircling downtown transforming a massive ring of mostly defunct railways into a series of stunning parks connected by trails and streetcars Acclaimed author Mark Pendergrast presents a deeply researched multi faceted up to the minute history of the biggest city in America's Southeast using the BeltLine saga to explore issues of race education public health transportation business philanthropy urban planning religion politics and community An inspiring narrative of ordinary Americans taking charge of their local communities City of the Verge provides a model for how cities across the country can reinvent themselves

Contemporary Perspectives on Jane Jacobs Dirk Schubert, 2016-05-13 Jane Jacobs's famous book The Death and Life of Great American Cities 1961 has challenged the discipline of urban planning and led to a paradigm shift Controversial in the 1960s most of her ideas became generally accepted within a decade or so after publication not only in North America but worldwide as the articles in this volume demonstrate Based on cross disciplinary and transnational approaches this book offers new insights into her complex and often contrarian way of thinking as well as analyses of her impact on urban planning theory and the consequences for planning practice Now more than 50 years after the initial publication in a period of rapid globalisation and deregulated approaches in planning new challenges arise The contributions in this book argue that it is not possible simply to follow Jane Jacobs s ideas to the letter but instead it is necessary to contextualize them to look for relevant lessons for cities and planners and critically to re evaluate why and how some of her ideas might be updated Bringing together an international team of scholars and writers this volume develops conclusions based on new research as to how her work can be re interpreted under different circumstances and utilized in the current debate about the proclaimed millennium of the city the 21st century

Waste Land Robert D. Kaplan,2025-01-23 We are entering a new era of global cataclysm with the world facing a deadly mix of war climate change great power rivalry rapid technological advancement the end of empire and countless other dangers In Waste Land Robert D Kaplan geopolitical expert and author of over twenty books on world affairs explains incisively how we got here and where we are going As in much of his work Kaplan looks to history literature politics and philosophy to interpret our world drawing parallels between today s challenges and those of Germany s interwar Weimar Republic Weimar faced myriad crises inextricably bound up with international systems and its emergency became a global one Today too every disaster in one country could spiral across the world given the singular dilemmas of our century pandemics recession urbanisation mass migration destabilisation under large scale democracy and great power conflicts and digital media s intimate bonds Could stability and historic liberalism rather than mass democracy per se save world populations from anarchic breakdown Waste Land is a bracing glimpse into a future defined by twenty first century technology but remarkably resonant with the past The situation may be spiralling out of our control unless our leaders act first

Pragmatic Justifications for the Sustainable City Meg Holden,2017-03-16 What can justice and sustainability mean pragmatically speaking in today s cities Can justice be the basis on which the practices of city building rely Can this recognition constitute sustainability in city building from a pragmatic perspective Today we are faced with a mountain of reasons to lose hope in any prospect of moving closer to justice and sustainability from our present position in civilization Pragmatic Justifications for the Sustainable City Acting in the Common Place offers a critical and philosophical approach to reevaluating the way in which we think and talk about the sustainable city to ensure that we neither lose the thread of our urban history nor the means to live well amidst diversity of all kinds By building and rebuilding better habits of urban thinking this book promotes the reconstruction of moral thinking paving the way for a new urban sustainability model of justice Utilizing multidisciplinary case studies and building upon anti foundationalist principles this book offers a pragmatic interpretation of sustainable development concepts within our emerging global urban context and will be a valuable resource for both undergraduate and postgraduate students as well as academics and professionals in the areas of urban and planning policy sociology and urban and environmental geography

Achieving Sustainability: The Ultimate Human Challenge Karen Blincoe, 2022-11-19 The book provides an assessment of whether sustainability is realizable in the current societal framework What are the challenges and the barriers and what are the levers necessary to meet and overcome them Through a revision of the essence of sustainability the book provides an opportunity to understand the deeper level of the radical change that sustainability represents and the resistance that is preventing its realization To build the argument the sustainable development model is compared with current development theories as well as alternative solutions based on utopian models of the past The book assesses the results that can be achieved within the current systemic framework based on case stories It outlines the limitations to sustainability pointing out and defining the multiple cross sectoral and systemic barriers that hinder the transition Finally the book offers perspectives on achieving a sustainable future encompassing the impacts from recent events including the pandemic as well as the multiple mitigation and transition initiatives undertaken globally

Brian Goodwin's Quote Like the caterpillar that wraps itself up in its silken swaddling bands prior to its metamorphosis into a butterfly we have wrapped ourselves in a tangled skin from which we can emerge only by going through a similarly dramatic transformation

The Urban Archetypes of Jane Jacobs and Ebenezer Howard Abraham Akkerman, 2020-01-09 Ebenezer Howard an Englishman and Jane Jacobs a naturalized Canadian personify the twentieth century's opposing outlooks on cities Howard had envisaged small towns newly built from scratch fashioned on single family homes with small gardens Jacobs embraced existing inner city neighbourhoods emphasizing the verve of the living street From Howard's idea the American

Dream of garden suburbs had emerged yet his conceptualization of a modern city received criticism for being uniform and alienated from the rest of the city Similarly at the turn of the new century Jacobs inner city neighbourhoods came to be recognized as the result of commodification vacillating between poverty and newly discovered hubs of urban authenticity Presenting Howard and Jacobs within a psychocultural context The Urban Archetypes of Jane Jacobs and Ebenezer Howard addresses our urban crisis in the recognition that city form is a gendered allegorical medium expressing femininity and masculinity within two founding features of the built environment void and volume Both founding contrasts bring tensions but also the opportunities of fusion between pairs of urban polarities human scale against superscale gait against speed and spontaneity against surveillance Jacobs and Howard in their respective attitudes have come to embrace the two ancient archetypes the Garden and the Citadel leaving it to future generations to blend their two contrarian stances The Space Between (Cultural Exegesis) Eric O. Jacobsen, 2012-08-01 The entire material world can be divided between the Natural Environment and the Built Environment Over the past forty years the Natural Environment has received more attention of the two but that is beginning to change With a renewed interest in place within various academic disciplines and the practical issues of rising fuel costs and scarcity of land the Built Environment has emerged as a coherent and engaging subject for academic and popular consideration While there is a growing body of work on the Built Environment very little approaches it from a distinctly Christian perspective This major new work represents a comprehensive and grounded approach Employing tools from the field of theology and culture it demonstrates how looking at the Built Environment through a theological lens provides a unique perspective on questions of beauty justice and human flourishing

Community Economic Development in Social Work Steven D. Soifer, Joseph B. McNeely, Cathy L. Costa, Nancy Pickering-Bernheim, 2014-11-11 Community economic development CED is an increasingly essential factor in the revitalization of low to moderate income communities This cutting edge text explores the intersection of CED and social work practice which both focus on the well being of indigent communities and the empowerment of individuals and the communities in which they live This unique textbook emphasizes a holistic approach to community building that combines business and real estate development with a focus on stimulating family self reliance and community empowerment The result is an innovative approach to rehabilitating communities in decline while preserving resident demographics The authors delve deep into the social political human and financial capital involved in effecting change and how race and regional issues can complicate approaches and outcomes Throughout they integrate case examples to illustrate their strategies and conclude with a consideration of the critical role social workers can play in developing CED's next phase

Rail and the City Roxanne Warren, 2014-09-12 An architect makes the case for rail transit as the critical infrastructure for a fluidly functioning and environmentally sustainable urban society The United States has evolved into a nation of twenty densely populated megaregions Yet despite the environmental advantages of urban density urban sprawl and reliance on the private car still set the pattern for most new development Cars guzzle not only gas but also space as massive acreage is dedicated to roadways and parking Even more pressing the replication of this pattern throughout the fast developing world makes it doubtful that we will achieve the reductions in carbon emissions needed to avoid climate catastrophe In Rail and the City architect Roxanne Warren makes the case for compact urban development that is supported by rail transit Calling the automobile a relic of the twentieth century Warren envisions a release from the tyrannies of traffic congestion petroleum dependence and an oppressively paved environment Technical features of rail are key to its high capacities safety at high speeds and compactness uniquely qualifying it to serve as ideal infrastructure within and between cities Ultimately mobility could be achieved through extensive networks of public transit particularly rail supplemented by buses cycling walking car sharing and small flexible vehicles High speed rail fed by local transit could eliminate the need for petroleum intensive plane trips of less than 500 miles Warren considers issues of access to transit citing examples from Europe Japan and North America and pedestrian and transit oriented urban design Rail transit she argues is the essential infrastructure for a fluidly functioning urban society

Straphanger Taras Grescoe,2012-04-24 Taras Grescoe rides the rails all over the world and makes an elegant and impassioned case for the imminent end of car culture and the coming transportation revolution I am proud to call myself a straphanger writes Taras Grescoe The perception of public transportation in America is often unflattering a squalid last resort for those with one too many drunk driving charges too poor to afford insurance or too decrepit to get behind the wheel of a car Indeed a century of auto centric culture and city planning has left most of the country with public transportation that is underfunded ill maintained and ill conceived But as the demand for petroleum is fast outpacing the world s supply a revolution in transportation is under way Grescoe explores the ascendance of the straphangers the growing number of people who rely on public transportation to go about the business of their daily lives On a journey that takes him around the world from New York to Moscow Paris Copenhagen Tokyo Bogot Phoenix Portland Vancouver and Philadelphia Grescoe profiles public transportation here and abroad highlighting the people and ideas that may help undo the damage that car centric planning has done to our cities and create convenient affordable and sustainable urban transportation and better city living for all

Adaptive Architecture Wolfgang F. E. Preiser,Andrea E. Hardy,Jacob J. Wilhelm,2017-09-01 The constant in architecture s evolution is change Adaptive Architecture explores structures or environments that accommodate multiple functions at the same time sequentially or at periodically recurring events It demonstrates how changing technological economic ecological and social conditions have altered the playing field for architecture from the design of single purpose structures to the design of interacting systems of synergistically interdependent distributed buildings Including contributors from the US UK Japan Australia Germany and South Africa the essays are woven into a five part framework which provides a broad and unique treatment of this important and timely issue

Time for Architecture Robert Adam,2020-02-24 Using time as a unifying theme this book critically analyses many of the key concepts in modern architecture and urban design such as modernity innovation timelessness and sustainability Drawing on the statements of contemporary architects and with reference to a wide range of sources from history philosophy sociology and anthropology as well as studies in diverse subjects such as science fiction colonialism and archaeology the text provides a new perspective on much of the thinking behind contemporary design In addition it develops original and practical theories on the meanings of modernity the variable ageing of the environment the central role of longevity in sustainability the significance of authenticity in conservation and the relationship between collective memory and tradition The

Theatre of Work by Clive Wilkinson Clive Wilkinson, 2019-06-02 Architect and writer Clive Wilkinson examines global developments in the workplace and proposes innovative principles for a design process that will bring the concept of work as theatre to fruition The modern workplace has evolved to provide better technology and more amenities for employees but what advances have been made in building truly creative communities that spark creativity and collaboration Is the 21st century office performing at its peak The Theatre of Work proposes an evolution of the relationship between office users and the spaces they occupy As work processes and community relationships evolve new collaborative synergies within the workplace are created The interplay between space and people offers a new kind of theatre where parallels with the archetypal theatre of the street and the marketplace occur This emerging new workspace should amplify and celebrate the activity of work and of human community and in the process become vital and compelling theatre In defining this new office landscape architect and writer Clive Wilkinson examines global developments in workplace thinking historical antecedents the performance touch points for the new office and proposes seven humanistic principles that will inform a holistic design process that can bring this concept of theatre to fruition Each of these principles is demonstrated through case studies of the work of his renowned design studio Clive Wilkinson Architects CWA with rich iconography diagrammatic strategy and contextual ingenuity The outcome of this process with its multiple performative layers effectively promotes elevating a corporate brief of basic needs and goals to a profoundly human centered presentation of work as theatre
