

STATE LABORATORY ACTIVITY
Making Connections
A Laboratory Activity for the Living Environment

Discovering Connections

As they make observations, scientists are always looking for patterns in the natural world. For instance, researchers have observed that pregnant women who smoke cigarettes have a higher incidence of low-birthweight babies and that people with high-fat diets have a greater risk of developing heart disease. Many similar medical discoveries are a result of the patterns that can be observed when studying people and their lifestyles.

Discovering and explaining connections is one of the basic methods by which our knowledge of the world advances. It is what science is all about! Sometimes the connections are not what we expect or would predict, and sometimes we may have a hard time explaining the connections. Nevertheless, that is how science makes progress.

In this part of the laboratory activity, you will make a few observations about yourself and your classmates; then you will look for patterns or connections.

Safety

Safety is important during any laboratory activity, be sure you are careful and behave responsibly.

Another concern is health. If you have health reasons for not performing the exercises called for in this activity, tell your teacher so that other arrangements can be made for you to successfully complete the investigation. If you are excused from gym class for medical reasons, for example, or if you have asthma, tell your teacher about it before beginning the laboratory activity.

From Gutenberg to Google Tom Wheeler,2019-02-26 Network revolutions of the past have shaped the present and set the stage for the revolution we are experiencing today In an era of seemingly instant change it s easy to think that today s revolutions in communications business and many areas of daily life are unprecedented Today s changes may be new and may be happening faster than ever before But our ancestors at times were just as bewildered by rapid upheavals in what we now call networks the physical links that bind any society together In this fascinating book former FCC chairman Tom Wheeler brings to life the two great network revolutions of the past and uses them to help put in perspective the confusion uncertainty and even excitement most people face today The first big network revolution was the invention of movable type printing in the fifteenth century This book its millions of predecessors and even such broad trends as the Reformation the Renaissance and the multiple scientific revolutions of the past 500 years would not have been possible without that one invention The second revolution came with the invention of the telegraph early in the nineteenth century Never before had people been able to communicate over long distances faster than a horse could travel Along with the development of the world's first high speed network the railroad the telegraph upended centuries of stability and literally redrew the map of the world Wheeler puts these past revolutions into the perspective of today when rapid fire changes in networking are upending the nature of work personal privacy education the media and nearly every other aspect of modern life But he doesn't leave it there Outlining What's Next he describes how artificial intelligence virtual reality blockchain and the need for cybersecurity are laying the foundation for a third network revolution Boys' Life, 1970-11 Boys Life is the official youth magazine for the Boy Scouts of America Published since 1911 it contains a proven mix of news nature sports history fiction science comics and Scouting Who Are Godwin and Hopwood? Ben Tosland, 2024-06-17 First
