

A man and a woman are smiling and posing for a photo. The man, on the left, is wearing a grey flat cap, a black t-shirt, and a grey jacket. The woman, on the right, has long blonde hair and is wearing a white button-down shirt under black leather overalls. Her right hand, which has a ring on the ring finger, is resting on a small white house icon that is part of the title text.

Making It Home Making It Home:

A Material Culture Ethnography of Home-Making in Asylum Reception Friedemann Yi-Neumann, 2025-05-10 This book explores what it takes to create a sense of home while in exile drawing on ethnographic research conducted in German asylum reception facilities from 2016-2020. From a material culture perspective it examines how asylum seekers and migrants with precarious legal status translate aspects of home into challenging environments. Through these translations, processual shifts of objects, habits and ideas across borders, migrants work to reassemble a sense of belonging. The book delves into the material, social and individual efforts involved in this homing process while highlighting the ongoing impact of dispossession and loss. By focusing on personal attachments to objects and the broader context of migration, this work offers a unique perspective on forced migration, home cultures and the quest for ontological security. The book will be of interest to scholars, researchers and students in disciplines such as anthropology, sociology and human geography as well as other research interested in ethnographic perspectives on the respective topics. Making Home in the Suburb Maram Shaweesh, 2024-11-12 This book investigates everyday life within Lebanese Australian homes, documenting how these homes integrate Lebanese Australian culture into suburban Australian life. It explores how the homemaking practices of Lebanese Australian families both influence and are influenced by the context of suburban housing in Australia. Drawing from in-depth interviews, household tours, photographic documentation, mental mapping and historical imagery data collection, the book illuminates homemaking practices that have evolved from creating a home away from home to practices influenced by a unique Lebanese Australian lifestyle rooted in the perception of Australia as their home. Making Home(s) in Displacement Luce Beeckmans, Alessandra Gola, Ashika Singh, Hilde Heynen, 2022-01-17 Making Home(s) in Displacement critically rethinks the relationship between home and displacement from a spatial, material and architectural perspective. Recent scholarship in the social sciences has investigated how migrants and refugees create and reproduce home under new conditions, thereby unpacking the seemingly contradictory positions of making a home and overcoming its loss. Yet making home(s) in displacement is also a spatial practice, one which intrinsically relates to the fabrication of the built environment worldwide. Conceptually, the book is divided along four spatial sites referred to as camp, shelter, city and house, which are approached with a multitude of perspectives ranging from urban planning and architecture to anthropology, geography, philosophy, gender studies and urban history, all with a common focus on space and spatiality. By articulating everyday homemaking experiences of migrants and refugees as spatial practices in a variety of geopolitical and historical contexts, this edited volume adds a novel perspective to the existing interdisciplinary scholarship at the intersection of home and displacement. It equally intends to broaden the canon of architectural histories and theories by including migrants and refugees' spatial agencies and place-making practices to its annals. By highlighting the political in the spatial and vice versa, this volume sets out to decentralise and decolonise current definitions of home and displacement, striving for a more pluralistic outlook on the idea of home.
