Its Ok To Have Lead In Your Lipstick:

It's OK to Have Lead in Your Lipstick Perry Romanowski, Randy Schueller, 2013-04-04 Crime, Harm and Consumerism Steve Hall, Tereza Kuldova, Mark Horsley, 2020-01-08 This book offers a collection of cutting edge essays on the relationship between crime harm and consumer culture Although consumer culture has been addressed across the social sciences it has yet to be fully explored in criminology The editors bring together an impressive list of authors with original ideas and a fresh perspective to this field The collection first introduces the reader to three sets of ideas which will be especially useful to students and researchers piecing together theoretical frameworks for their studies New concepts such as pseudo pacification the materialist libertine and the commodification of abstinence can be used as foundation stones for new explanatory criminological analyses in the 21st century The collection then moves on to present case studies based on rigorous empirical work in the fields of consumption and debt outlaw gangs illegal drug markets gambling the mentality that drives investment fraudsters and the relationship between social media and state surveillance These case studies showcase the strength of the research skills and knowledge these scholars offer to the field of criminology Written in a clear and direct style this book will appeal to students and scholars in criminology sociology cultural studies social theory and those interested in learning about the effects of consumer culture in modern society Understanding Drug Dealing and Illicit Drug Markets Tammy C. Ayres, Craig Ancrum, 2023-07-31 This book examines the drug dealer in contemporary society from an interdisciplinary perspective and considers the increasingly blurred demarcation between illegitimate and legitimate drug markets It explores the motives and drivers of those involved in drug supply and dispels common and stereotypical myths and misconceptions surrounding illegal drug markets and those who operate within them The drug dealer has become one of our foremost contemporary folk devils Those who trade in substances prohibited by law are the subject of array of inaccurate myths and urban legends Criminology has tended either to shoehorn drug dealers into neat typologies or portray them as victims of an uncaring predatory post modern society In reality we know relatively little about the complex and diverse world of drug markets and our concentration inevitably falls on low end retail dealers who operate in the most visible sectors of the illegal economy Bringing together an international group of experts this book considers perspectives from around the world including UK USA South America Spain India and Australia This book will be of interest to students and researchers across criminology law sociology criminal justice and public health and will be essential reading for those taking courses on drugs drug markets and substance misuse The Language of Cosmetics Advertising Helen Ringrow, 2016-09-28 This book offers a cross cultural comparison of French and British cosmetics advertisements and explores how the discourse of beauty advertising represents ideas about femininity in French and English language contexts As the global beauty industry expands and consumers become more critical of the claims made the topic of cosmetics advertising discourse is examined using Feminist Critical Discourse Analysis One common theme underlying most cosmetics advertising discourse is that the female body always requires work to fix its problems flat skin dry hair and so on The author uses themes of language and gender media and identity and advertising across cultures to expose exactly what is going on in the language of cosmetics advertising and to offer a first step towards challenging these ideas and thinking about alternatives
