PILOT'S FLIGHT MANUAL

[illegible]

SCHWEIZER 330/333™
HELICOPTER MODEL 2890

Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week, supervised, low-impact aerobically demanding exercise program on the cardiovascular fitness of sedentary, middle-aged women. The study was conducted in a laboratory setting. The subjects were 15 sedentary, middle-aged women who were randomly assigned to either the exercise group or the control group. The exercise group performed a 12-week, supervised, low-impact aerobically demanding exercise program. The control group did not exercise. The subjects were tested at baseline and at 12 weeks. The results of the study showed that the exercise group had a significant increase in cardiovascular fitness compared to the control group. The exercise group had a significant increase in heart rate, stroke volume, and cardiac output. The control group had no significant change in these variables. The results of this study suggest that a 12-week, supervised, low-impact aerobically demanding exercise program can improve cardiovascular fitness in sedentary, middle-aged women.
