

Glory Movie Questions

1. How does the attitude of Colonel Robert Gould Shaw toward African-Americans change and why?

Colonel Shaw's attitude toward African-Americans changes over the course of the movie. At first, he is a white supremacist who believes that African-Americans are inferior and should not be allowed to fight in the military. However, as he spends more time with the 54th Massachusetts, he begins to see their courage and sacrifice, and his attitude changes. He becomes more respectful and eventually treats them as equals.

2. What differences exist among the black soldiers who make up the 54th Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry? What does this tell you about the different experiences of blacks in 19th-century America? What about their regions of origin, former status (enslaved), and educational background?

The 54th Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry is a diverse group of men from different backgrounds. Some are former slaves, some are free-born, and some are from the South. They have different levels of education and different experiences of slavery. This diversity reflects the broader experience of African-Americans in 19th-century America.

3. What attitudes did white soldiers have about the 54th? Did these attitudes change and why?

At first, the white soldiers in the 54th look down on the black soldiers. They see them as inferior and believe that they are not capable of fighting. However, as the 54th proves their courage and skill in battle, the white soldiers' attitudes change. They begin to respect the black soldiers and see them as equals.

4. Were blacks treated equally to whites in the Union army? Explain.

No, blacks were not treated equally to whites in the Union army. They were paid less than whites, they were given less food and shelter, and they were often treated with disrespect and discrimination. However, their service was crucial to the Union's victory in the Civil War.

5. What is significant about Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse to surrender?

Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse to surrender is significant because it shows his commitment to the principles of equality and justice. He believes that the 54th has earned the right to be treated as equals, and he is willing to die for that principle.

6. Did that incident end as you expected? What feelings or thoughts come over you last night?

The incident ended as I expected. The 54th was killed to a man, but their sacrifice was not in vain. Their bravery and courage inspired the rest of the Union army, and they proved that African-Americans were capable of fighting and dying for their country. This incident is a powerful reminder of the importance of equality and justice.
