Dynamics of Social Class Craig B Howley, Aimee Howley, Jerry D Johnson, 2014-03-01 Half the world's population lives in rural places but education scholars and policy makers worldwide give little attention to rural of education Indeed most national systems including in the developed world treat their educational systems as institutions to modernize the global economy The authors in this volume have different concerns They are rural education scholars from Australia Canada the United States and Kyrgyzstan and here their focus is the dynamics of social class in particular rural schools but also in rural schooling as a local manifestation of a national and the global system For the most part the volume comprises relevant empirical reports but none neglects theory and some privilege theory and interpretation First and last chapters introduce the texts and synthesize their joint and separate meanings What are the implications of place for social class How do class dynamics manifest differently in more and less racially homogeneous rural communities How does place affect class and how might class affect place How does schooling in rural communities reproduce or interrupt social class mobility across generations The chapters engage such questions more completely than other volumes in rural education not as a final word or interim summary but as an opening to an important line of inquiry thus far largely neglected in rural education scholarship workers politicians teachers and parents Pupil Disaffection in Schools Sarah Swann, 2016-04-15 Sarah Swann provides a fresh approach to examining the long standing debates over disaffection and in particular social class differences in educational achievement through a mixed methods methodology and the showcasing of new research By observing pupils as they engage with peers and teachers in school Swann allows disaffection to be seen and heard in real events which constructs disaffection differently from objective statistical evidence on school exclusions Rather than a homogenous identity this book illustrates disaffection as layered and resting on a series of issues located on the crossroads between the cultural context of the neighbourhood and the public sphere of the school It plots in a detailed way how these structures interact and mesh to create disaffected identities Disaffection does not emerge in a vacuum or without a cause Pupils arrive at school with a wide variety of experiences and it is from these that they interpret understand and act out their identities Whilst the study in part seeks to describe and understand the social world of the school in terms of the pupils interpretations of the situation it analytically frames the perceptions of pupils within a wider social context In particular it focuses on the relationships between schooling and the wider macro structures and social relations that underpin disaffection This approach makes the research both critical and interpretative and also able to shed new light on educational policy across England based on an understanding of the role of disaffection Preparing for Post-Secondary Education Robert Arthur Sweet, Paul
