Jesus And The Other Names Christian Mission And Global Responsibility:

Jesus and the Other Names Paul F. Knitter, 1996-01-01 What are Christians to make of their mission in an pluralistic world asks Paul F Knitter author of the landmark work in interfaith dialogue No Other Name As a recognized scholar and participant in interfaith dialogue Knitter is in a unique position to explore the key concept of what Christian mission must entail in a world that will remain a world of many religious faiths for the foreseeable future From the first chapter of Jesus and the Other Names which recounts his own theological and dialogical odyssey Knitter constructs what he calls a correlational globally responsible theology of religions as a necessary correction to traditional pluralist and exclusivist approaches By anticipating and addressing his critics both conservative and liberal Knitter makes a powerful argument for a reconstruction of mission faithful to the Christian imperative and dynamically attuned to the plurality of the world Jesus and the Other Names will give pause to those who believe Christian mission can be carried on as it was in the modern era Sure to inspire debate as well as dialogue it offers a more humble but perhaps more Christic postmodern approach to mission in the new millennium that has little to do with earthly glory and nothing to do with the sense of cultural superiority that has so often and often so tragically accompanied modern missionary movements Theologians missiologists Christian historians can all benefit from its thoughtful and timely message

An Anthropological Approach to Theology Heather Meacock, 2000 Heather Meacock in An Anthropological Approach to Theology has compiled an argument based upon the pluralist beliefs of Professor John Hick for the revision of traditional Christianity Hick s pluralist understanding of the theology of religions is influenced by the philosophy of Kant and his theories about society s moral awareness Meacock methodically explicates Hick s views while refuting his critics She claims that some Christian doctrines such as the Incarnation lose meaning when interpreted literally and that Christianity itself must begin to change its self perception to that of one among many world religions This book will interest students of religion philosophy as well as anthropologists interested in religion

An Introduction to the Theology of Religions Veli-Matti Kärkkäinen, 2009-08-20 How does Christianity relate to other religions Beginning with a consideration of the biblical perspective Veli Matti Kärkkäinen offers a detailed and comprehensive survey of the diverse explanations proposed by teachers of the church down through the ages This indispensable guide is for anyone seeking to grasp Christianity's relationship to world religions

Jews and Christians, Rivals Or Partners for the Kingdom of God? Didier Pollefeyt, 1997 For centuries the Christian churches and Christian theology have sought to forge their own identity by challenging the identity of Judaism Christians often inquired whether Israel was still the people of God whether the church had replaced Israel An affirmative answer to the latter inquiry is often described as the theology of substitution the church has taken Israel's place The implication is that there is no longer any place for Israel in God's plan of salvation The history of Christian anti Judaism is dramatic proof of the violent potential that is implicit in this Christian theology of substitution After Auschwitz the search for an alternative to this theology a search which touches the heart of Christianity has become a necessity The central question of this book is whether and how Christianity can maintain its identity if it no longer understands itself as a substitute for Judaism Didier Pollefeyt shows how the theme of substitution constitutes the basic theological problem for Christians in the encounter with Judaism Bertold Klappert develops an alternative for the Christian theology of substitution by drawing on the work of Protestant theologians Leon Klenicki offers a Jewish perspective as he seeks to develop a theory of dialogical encounter for Jews and Christians Terrence Merrigan reflects on the way in which the Christian rediscovery of Judaism can be significant in the light of the postmodern challenge of religious pluralism Rik Hoet analyzes biblical metaphors which might serve as an alternative for the Christian theology of substitution

Christology from the Margins Thomas Bohache, 2008 Provides a comprehensive queer discussion of Christology concluding with the view of Christ's person and work from a queer perspective Suitable for undergraduate study

The God Who Is with Us Benjamin H. Kim, 2022-10-21 Contemporary theologies of mission rely on the central concept of the missio Dei which states that mission properly belongs to the triune God over the church However present accounts fail to establish any corresponding link between God's trinitarian economy and ontology In other words the problem of the missio

Dei is the problem of the break between the act and being of God Benjamin H Kim argues that a repair is needed for missio Dei theology and this repair is found in reexamining Barth's doctrine of revelation In doing so the locus of mission moves from God's trinitarian sending to his trinitarian revealing The repair is further advanced by Dietrich Bonhoeffer through his concept of person which functions as the unity of act and being This account returns mission to its original definition which was intended to describe the inner trinitarian being of God in relation to humanity The concept of person recovers this meaning of mission by locating it first in the person of Christ and second in the collective person of the church existing as the Christ community Thus Bonhoeffer's description of revelation in terms of personhood provides an account that is more faithful to the missio Dei's core insights

Voices from the Borderland Chris Shannahan, 2016-04-01 Urban theology affirms the importance of context notably the place of the city in theological reflection However it has often been confined to particular contexts or theological camps and thus failed to engage with the fluidity of contemporary urban societies Voices from the Borderland presents an overview of urban theology arguing that the twenty first century demands a dialogical model of theology that enacts progressive change The volume draws on studies of the multicultural and multi faith British urban experience and situates these within the wider international context The works of influential theologians in the field are examined and the dialogue between theology globalisation post colonialism postmodernism and post religious urban culture critically explored The volume is unique in bringing together urban liberation theology urban black theology reformist urban theology globalisation urban theology and post religious urban theology

Religion within the Limits of History Alone Demian Wheeler,2020-09-01 Among the greatest challenges facing religious thinkers today is that created by historicism the notion that human beings and their myriad understandings of reality are utterly historical conditioned by contingent circumstances and tied to particular contexts In this book Demian Wheeler confronts the historicist challenge by delineating and defending a particular trajectory of historicist thought known as pragmatic historicism Rooted in the German Enlightenment and fully developed within the early Chicago school of theology pragmatic historicism is a predominantly American tradition that was philosophically nurtured by classical pragmatism and its intellectual siblings naturalism and radical empiricism Religion within the Limits of History Alone not only undertakes a detailed genealogy of this pragmatic historicist lineage but also sets forth a constructive program for contemporary theology by charting a path for its future development Wheeler shows that pragmatic historicism is an underdeveloped resource for contemporary theology since it offers a model for normative religious thought that is theologically compelling yet wholly nonsupernaturalistic deeply pluralistic unflinchingly liberal and radically historicist

Grounding Our Faith in a Pluralist World John P. Keenan,Sydney Lea,Lansing Davis,Buster G.
