Who Wants to Be a Jewish Writer? Adam Kirsch, 2019-03-19 From one of today s keenest critics comes a collection of essays on poetry religion and the connection between the two Adam Kirsch is one of today s finest literary critics This collection brings together his essays on poetry religion and the intersections between them with a particular focus on Jewish literature He explores the definition of Jewish literature the relationship between poetry and politics and the future of literary reputation in the age of the internet Several essays look at the way Jewish writers such as Stefan Zweig and Isaac Deutscher who coined the phrase the non Jewish Jew have dealt with politics Kirsch also examines questions of spirituality and morality in the writings of contemporary poets including Christian Wiman Kay Ryan and Seamus Heaney He closes by asking why so many American Jewish writers have resisted that category inviting us to consider Is there such a thing as Jewish literature

Jewish Literature and Other Essays Gustav Karpeles, 1895 Jewish Literature and Other Essays Gustav Karpeles, 2018-08-15 Jewish Literature and Other Essays by Gustav Karpeles In a well known passage of the Romanzero rebuking Jewish women for their ignorance of the magnificent golden age of their nation s poetry Heine used unmeasured terms of condemnation He was too severe for the sources from which he drew his own information were of a purely scientific character necessarily unintelligible to the ordinary reader The first truly popular presentation of the whole of Jewish literature was made only a few years ago and could not have existed in Heine's time as the most valuable treasures of that literature a veritable Hebrew Pompeii have been unearthed from the mould and rubbish of the libraries within this century Investigations of the history of Jewish literature have been possible then only during the last fifty years We are delighted to publish this classic book as part of our extensive Classic Library collection Many of the books in our collection have been out of print for decades and therefore have not been accessible to the general public The aim of our publishing program is to facilitate rapid access to this vast reservoir of literature and our view is that this is a significant literary work which deserves to be brought back into print after many decades The contents of the vast majority of titles in the Classic Library have been scanned from the original works To ensure a high quality product each title has been meticulously hand curated by our staff Our philosophy has been guided by a desire to provide the reader with a book that is as close as possible to ownership of the original work We hope that you will enjoy this wonderful classic work and that for you it becomes an enriching experience Jewish Literature Israel Abrahams, 2019-09-25 Reproduction of the original Jewish Literature by Israel Abrahams Chapters on Jewish Literature Israel Abrahams, Jewish Publication Society of America, 1899 Bibliography at end of each chapter

The Jewish Year Book ,1905 The Talmud Emanuel Oscar M. Deutsch,1895 Modern Jewish Literatures Sheila E. Jelen,Michael P. Kramer,L. Scott Lerner,2011-06-06 Is there such a thing as a distinctive Jewish literature While definitions have been offered none has been universally accepted Modern Jewish literature lacks the basic markers of national literatures it has neither a common geography nor a shared language though works in Hebrew or Yiddish are almost certainly included and the field is so diverse that it cannot be contained within the bounds of one literary category Each of the fifteen essays collected in Modern Jewish Literatures takes on the above question by describing a movement across boundaries between languages cultures genres or spaces Works in Hebrew and Yiddish are amply represented but works in English French German Italian Ladino and Russian are also considered Topics range from the poetry of the Israeli nationalist Natan Alterman to the Russian poet Osip Mandelstam from turn of the century Ottoman Jewish journalism to wire recorded Holocaust testimonies from the intellectual salons of late eighteenth century Berlin to the shelves of a Jewish bookstore in twentieth century Los Angeles The literary world described in Modern Jewish Literatures is demarcated chronologically by the Enlightenment the Haskalah and the French Revolution on one end and the fiftieth anniversary of the State of Israel on the other The particular terms of the encounter between a Jewish past and present for modern Jews has varied greatly by continent country or village by language and by social standing among other things What unites the subjects of these studies is not a common ethnic religious or cultural history but rather a shared endeavor to use literary production and writing in general as the laboratory in which to
