Building for Peace Robert P. Grathwol, Donita M. Moorhus, 2005 Building Peace Craig Zelizer, Robert A. Rubinstein, 2009 Even though international peacebuilding has rapidly expanded in the last two decades to respond to more multi faceted and complex conflicts the field has lagged behind in documenting the impact and success of projects To help address this gap the Alliance for Peacebuilding one of the leading networks in the field has brought together 13 stories of innovative peacebuilding practices from around the world in Building Peace While the projects covered are diverse in nature together they demonstrate the significant impact of peacebuilding work Contributors created new institutions to prevent and manage conflicts at the local or national levels helped restore relationships in conflict affected communities and empowered citizens to work for positive change in their societies across ethnic religious and political divides It s clear that there is no quick fix for violence but this volume will go a long way in providing inspiration and practical tools for policymakers academics and practitioners who seek to make significant and valuable contributions towards achieving peace

Peace-Building and Development in Guatemala and Northern Ireland C. Reilly, 2008-12-22 This book analyzes the implementation of peace processes in Northern Ireland and Guatemala with emphasis on the role of mid level civil society and religious organizations or the voluntary sector Both countries interrupted years of conflict signed peace accords in 1998 and 1996 respectively and still struggle to make them work Despite very different economic development levels both countries have colonial legacies deep cultural divisions and engaged diaspora They grapple with violence poverty and inequitable distribution of wealth and power While religious differences are a backdrop to violence and reconciliation in both cases insecurity and inequity are the root cause and consequence of these conflicts The book summarizes lessons learned and makes policy recommendations for more civil post conflict societies arguing that similar dynamics fuel sustainable peace building and authentic development

Building Peace in America Emily Sample, Douglas Irvin-Erickson, 2020-07-22 America may not be at war but it is not at peace Recent public and political rhetoric have revealed the escalation of a pervasive and dangerous us versus them ideology in the United States This powerful book is motivated by the contributors recognition of continuing structural violence and injustice which are linked to long standing systems of racism social marginalization xenophobia poverty and inequality in all forms Calls to restore America s greatness are just the most recent iteration of dehumanizing language against minority communities The violation of the civil and human rights of vulnerable groups presents a serious threat to American democracy These deeply rooted and systemic inequities have no easy solutions and the destructive nature of today s conflicts in America threaten to impede efforts to build peace promote justice and inspire constructive social change Acknowledging the complexity of building peace in the United States this volume represents the first step in envisioning a more just peaceful country from the grassroots to the highest levels of leadership The editors have brought together a diverse group of scholars conflict resolution practitioners civil society leaders community peacebuilders and faith leaders who are committed to pro social change Collectively they examine how best to understand the current issues deescalate destructive public rhetoric undermine the us versus them polarity and support those currently working for positive change Together the contributors share experiences and perspectives on the past present and future of peacebuilding develop a vision for how we can collectively respond in our communities campuses and congregations and catalyze action during this pivotal moment in America
