Slayton,2017-06-21 Gold Medalist 2018 Independent Publisher Book Awards in the US Northeast Best Regional Non Fiction Category Finalist for the 2017 Foreword INDIES Book of the Year Award in the Regional category Silver Winner 2017 Foreword INDIES Book of the Year Awards in the History category At the beginning of the twentieth century the Ashcan School of Art blazed onto the art scene introducing a revolutionary vision of New York City In contrast to the elite artists who painted the upper class bedecked in finery in front of magnificent structures or the progressive reformers who photographed the city as a slum hopeless and full of despair the Ashcan School held the unique belief that the industrial working class city was a fit subject for great art In Beauty in the City Robert A Slayton illustrates how these artists portrayed the working classes with respect and gloried in the drama of the subways and excavation sites the office towers and immigrant housing Their art captured the emerging metropolis in all its facets with its potent machinery and its class ethnic and gender issues By exposing the realities of this new modern America through their art expressed in what they chose to draw not in how they drew it they created one of the great American art forms

The "new Woman" Revised Ellen Wiley Todd,1993-01-01 In the years between the world wars Manhattan s Fourteenth Street Union Square district became a center for commercial cultural and political activities and hence a sensitive barometer of the dramatic social changes of the period It was here that four urban realist painters Kenneth Hayes Miller Reginald Marsh Raphael Soyer and Isabel Bishop placed their images of modern new women Bargain stores cheap movie theaters pinball arcades and radical political organizations were the backdrop for the women shoppers office and store workers and consumers of mass culture portrayed by these artists Ellen Wiley Todd deftly interprets the painters complex images as they were refracted through the gender ideology of the period This is a work of skillful interdisciplinary scholarship combining recent insights from feminist art history gender studies and social and cultural theory Drawing on a range of visual and verbal representations as well as biographical and critical texts Todd balances the historical context surrounding the painters with nuanced analyses of how each artist s image of womanhood contributed to

Republic of Dreams Ross Wetzsteon, 2007-11-01 If the twentieth century was the American century it can be argued that it was more specifically the New York century and Greenwich Village was the incubator of every important writer artist and political movement of the period From the century's first decade through the era of beatniks and modern art in the 1950s and 60s Greenwich Village was the destination for rebellious men and women who flocked there from all over the country to fulfill their artistic political and personal dreams It has been called the most significant square mile in American cultural history for it holds the story of the rise and fall of American socialism women's suffrage and the commercialization of the avant garde One Villager went so far as to say that everything started in the Village except Prohibition and in the 1940s the young actress Lucille Ball said The Village is the greatest place in the world What other community could claim a spectrum ranging from Henry James to Marlon Brando from Marcel Duchamp to Bob Dylan from Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney to Abbie Hoffman The story of the Village is in large part the stories old Villagers have told new Villagers about former Villagers and to tell its story is in large part to tell its legends Republic of Dreams presents the remarkable outrageous often interrelated biographies of the giants of American journalism poetry drama radical politics and art who flocked to the Village for nearly half a century among them Eugene O'Neill whose plays were first produced by the Provincetown Players on Macdougall Street for whom Edna St Vincent Millay also wrote Jackson Pollock who moved to the Village from Wyoming in 1930 and was soon part of the group of 8th Street painters who would revolutionize Western painting E E Cummings who lived for years on Patchin Place as did Djuna Barnes Max Eastman who edited the groundbreaking literary and political journal The Masses which introduced Freud to the American public and also published Sherwood Anderson Amy Lowell Upton Sinclair Maksim Gorky and John Reed's reporting on the Russian Revolution Republic of Dreams is beautifully researched outspoken wise hip exuberant a monumental definitive history that will endure for decades to come John Sloan's Women Janice Marie Coco, John Sloan, 2004 Challenging the cornerstone assumption of Sloan as a neutral spectator Coco suggests the ways that he used art to define himself as both man and artist at a time when the ideals of masculinity and artistic identity were at issue Examining his self-admitted fear of women she demonstrates how Sloan's perception of them as potentially threatening to his manhood and his career manifests itself subtextually in the fetishized nature of his windowed compositions

Painters of a New Century Elizabeth Milroy, 1991 The Ashcan School also called the Ash Can School is defined as a realist artistic movement that came into prominence in the United States during the early twentieth century best known for works portraying scenes of daily life in New York's poorer neighborhoods The movement grew out of a group known as The Eight whose only show together in 1908 created a sensation Its members included five painters later associated with the

Ashcan School William Glackens 1870 1938 Robert Henri 1865 1929 George Luks 1867 1933 Everett Shinn 1876 1953 and John French Sloan 1871 1951 They had met studying together under Thomas Pollock Anshutz at the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts Other members of The Eight were Arthur B Davies 1862 1928 Ernest Lawson 1873 1939 and Maurice Prendergast 1859 1924 whose work diverged from the Ashcan School in style Wikipedia Dec 2011 Who's who in New York City and State Lewis Randolph Hamersly, John William Leonard, William Frederick Mohr, Herman Warren Knox, Frank R. Holmes, 0infield Scott Downs, 1924 Containing authentic biographies of New Yorkers who are leaders and representatives in various departments of worthy human achievement including sketches of every army and navy officer born in or appointed from New York and now serving of all the congressmen from the state all state senators and judges and all ambassadors ministers and consuls appointed from New York The New Yorker Harold Wallace Ross, Katharine Sergeant Angell White, 1979-02 British Books in Print, 1985 The Eight and American Modernisms Peter John Brownlee, 2009 Frustrated by the art world's elitism and the snobbish exclusivity of the academy's juries eight American painters united in 1908 to upend the establish norms and stage their own exhibition of modernist art Led by the charismatic Robert Henri they came to be known as The Eight and their two week show at New York's Macbeth Galleries drew a multitude of visitors who crowded into the galleries to critique the much publicized work of these revolutionary artists Their paintings of urban scenes marked a significant departure from the prevailing style which emphasized physical and natural beauty and met with critical success The established chronicle maintains that the Eight were rendered dysfunctional and artistically irrelevant after European modernism arrived in the United States at the 1913 Armory Show The Eight and American Modernisms revises this account and reevaluates these respected artists careers including their late works Accompanying a traveling exhibition this lushly illustrated volume challenges the accepted wisdom about the evolution of the modernist style In addition to Henri The Eight included William Glackens George Luks Everett Shinn John French Sloan Arthur B Davies Ernest Lawson and Maurice Prendergast Reading American Art Professor and Department Head of Art & Art History Elizabeth Milroy, 1998-01-01 This anthology brings together twenty outstanding works of recent scholarship on the history of the visual arts in the United States from the colonial period to 1945 The selected essays all written within the past two decades reflect the interdisciplinary character of current art historiography in America and the variety of approaches that contribute to the dynamism in the field The authors take up diverse subjects from colonial portraits to nineteenth century sculptures of women to photographic images of New York and invite those with a general knowledge of the history of American art to think more deeply about art and culture Employing many interpretive methodologies including iconology social history structuralism psychobiography and feminist theory the contributors to this volume combine close analysis of specific art objects or groups of objects with discussion of how these works of art operated within their cultural contexts The authors consider the works of such artists as John Singleton Copley Charles Willson Peale Winslow Homer Thomas Eakins Georgia O'Keeffe and Jackson

Pollock as they assess how paintings sculpture prints drawings and photographs have carried meaning within American society And they investigate how the conceptualization production and presentation of works of art both inform and are informed by prevailing attitudes toward the role of the arts and the artist in American culture The Print Collector's Newsletter ,1986 John Sloan Michael Lobel,2014-04-29 This fascinating book highlights the artist s early career as an illustrator and how it influenced his work as a painter and shaped his response to modernism American Women Modernists Robert Henri,Marian Wardle,Sarah Burns,Brigham Young University. Museum of Art,2005 The seven essays included in this volume move beyond the famed Ashcan School to recover the lesser known work of Robert Henri s women students The contributors who include well known scholars of art history American studies and cultural studies demonstrate how these women participated in the modernizing of women s roles during this era Re-envisioning the Everyday John Fagg,2023-10-03 Often seen as backward looking and convention bound genre painting representing scenes of everyday life was central to the work of twentieth century artists such as John Sloan Norman Rockwell Jacob Lawrence who adapted such subjects to an era of rapid urbanization mass media and modernist art Re envisioning the Everyday asks what their works do to the tradition of genre painting and whether it remains a meaningful category through which to understand them Working with and against the established narrative of American genre painting s late nineteenth century decline into obsolescence John Fagg explores how artists and illustrators used elements of the tradition to picture everyday life in a rapidly changing society whether by appealing to its nostalgic and historical connotations or by updating it to address new formal and thematic concerns Fagg argues that genre painting enabled twentieth century artists to look slowly and carefully at scenes of everyday life and on some occasions to understand those scenes as sites of political oppression and resistance But it also limited them to anachronistic ways of seeing and tied them to a freighted history of stereotyping and condescension By surveying genre painting when its status and relevance were uncertain and by looking at works that stretch and complicate its boundaries this book considers what the form is and probes the wider practice of generic categorization It will appeal to students and scholars of American art history art criticism and cultural studies American Printmakers of the Twentieth Century Donald E. Smith,2004
