Baily's Magazine of Sports and Pastimes Tresham Gilbey, 1900 Baily's Magazine of Sports and Pastimes, 1900 Willing's Press Guide, 1931 A guide to the press of the United Kingdom and to the principal publications of Europe Australia the Far East Gulf States and the U S A Tom Emmett: The Spirit of Yorkshire Cricket Jeremy Lonsdale, 2018-08-01 Lord Hawke called Tom Emmett the greatest character who ever stepped on to the field Born in Halifax in 1841 Emmett worked as a mill hand and did not make his Yorkshire debut until 1866 Almost at once he was part of the most destructive fast bowling partnership in England with George Freeman In the 1860s he once took 16 wickets for Yorkshire in an afternoon In the 1870s only one other player scored over 4 000 runs and took over 400 wickets in English cricket W G Grace Emmett had his best ever season with the ball in the 1880s aged nearly 45 In all first class cricket he took over 1 500 wickets at under 14 bowling in an idiosyncratic style which included wides and balls which no man had ever seen or dreamed of before For three decades Emmett travelled endlessly to appear in club and county matches and went to Australia three times in five years appearing in the first Test match He set records and won games but also played in a style which at one time made him the most popular professional in England He pleased cricket followers with his wit and enthusiasm but his life had a large share of tragedy How he handled those highs and lows made him the true spirit of Yorkshire cricket

Willing's Press Guide and Advertisers' Directory and Handbook, 1902 May's British and Irish Press Guide, 1900 The History of the University of Oxford: Volume VII: Nineteenth-Century Oxford, Part 2 M. G. Brock, M. C. Curthoys, 2000-11-16 Volume VII of The History of the University of Oxford completes the survey of nineteenth century Oxford begun in Volume VI After 1871 both teachers and students at Oxford were freed from tests of religious belief The volume describes the changed mental climate in which some dons sought a new basis for morality while many undergraduates found a compelling ideal in the ethic of public service both at home and in the empire As the existing colleges were revitalized and new ones founded the academic profession in Oxford developed a peculiarly local form centred upon college tutors who stood in somewhat uneasy relation with the University's professors The various disciplines which came to form the undergraduate curriculum in both the arts and sciences are subject to major reappraisal and Oxford's hidden curriculum is explored through accounts of student life and institutions including organized sport and the Oxford Union New light is shed on the social origins and previous schooling of undergraduates A fresh assessment is made of the movement to establish women's higher education in Oxford and the strategies adopted by its promoters to implant communities for women within the masculine culture of an ancient university Other widened horizons are traced in accounts of the University's engagement with imperial expansion social reform and the educational aspirations of the labour movement as well as the transformation of its press into a major international publisher The architectural developments considerable in quantity and highly varied in quality receive critical appraisal in a comprehensive survey of the whole period covered by Volumes VI and VII 1800 1914 By the early twentieth century the challenges of socialism and democracy together with the demand for national efficiency gave rise to a renewed campaign to address issues such as promoting research abolishing compulsory Greek and more generally broadening access to the University Under the terrible test of the First World War still more deep seated concerns were raised about the side effects of Oxford's educational practices and the volume concludes with some reflections on the directions which the University had taken over the previous fifty years series blurb No private institutions have exerted so profound an influence on national life over the centuries as the universities of Oxford and Cambridge Few universities in the world have matched their intellectual distinction and none has evolved and maintained over so long a period a strictly comparable collegiate structure Now a completely new and full scale History of the University of Oxford from its obscure origins in the twelfth century until the late twentieth century has been produced by the university with the active support of its constituent colleges Drawing on extensive original research as well as on the centuries old tradition of the study of the rich source material the History is altogether comprehensive appearing in eight chronologically arranged volumes Together the volumes constitute a coherent overall study yet each has a unity of its own under individual editorship and brings together the work of leading scholars in the history of every university discipline and of its social institutional economic and political development as well as its impact on national and international life The result is a history not only more authoritative than any previously produced for Oxford but more ambitious than any undertaken for any other European university and certain to endure for many generations to come The Essential

Modern English Biography: (Supplement v.1-3) Frederic Boase, 1921 Sport Past and Present in South Africa Scarlett Cornelissen, Albert Grundlingh, 2013-09-13 This book provides an interpretation of sport in contemporary South Africa through an historical account of the evolution and social ramifications of sport in the twentieth century It comprises chapters which trace the growth of sports such as football cricket surfing boxing and rugby and considers their relationship to aspects of racial identity masculinity femininity political and social development in the country The book also draws out the wider geo political significance of South African sport placing it in the context of the development of sport both elsewhere on the African continent and internationally The history of sport has seen significant international growth over the past few decades For the most part however the history of sport in Africa has remained largely untraced By detailing the way in which sport's development in South Africa overlapped with major socio political processes on the wider African continent this volume seeks to narrow the gap This book was previously published as a special issue of the International Journal of the History of Sport Modern English Biography Frederic Boase, 1921 Gerald Howard-Smith and the 'Lost Generation' of Late Victorian and Edwardian England John Benson, 2016-11-18 Gerald Howard Smith's life is intriguing both in its own right and as a vehicle for exploring the world in which he lived Tall boisterous and sometimes rather irascible

he was one of the so called Lost Generation whose lives were cut short by the First World War Brought up in London and educated at Eton and Cambridge he excelled both at cricket and athletics After qualifying as a solicitor he moved to Wolverhampton and threw himself into the local sporting scene making a considerable name for himself in the years before the First World War Volunteering for military service in 1914 he was decorated for bravery before being killed in action two years later Reporting his death the War History of the South Staffordshire Regiment claimed that In his men s eyes he lived as a loose limbed hero and in him they lost a very humorous and a very gallant gentleman As well as telling the fascinating story of Gerald Howard Smith for the first time this important new biography explores such complex and important issues as childhood and adolescence class relations sporting achievement manliness and masculinity metropolitan provincial relationships and forms of commemoration It will therefore be of interest to educationalists sports historians local and regional historians and those interested in class gender and civilian military relations indeed all those seeking to understand the economic social and cultural life of late nineteenth and early twentieth century Britain

Our Time Is Now Selma James,2021-07-20 For over sixty years Selma James has been organizing from the perspective of unwaged women who with their biological and caring work reproduce the whole human race along with whatever other labor they are performing This work goes on almost unnoticed everywhere on the planet and in every culture When this work is not economically prioritized politically protected or socially supported there are dire consequences for the whole of humanity beginning with women and children This much anticipated follow up to her first anthology Sex Race and Class compiles several decades of James s work with a focus on her more recent writings including a groundbreaking analysis of C L R James s two masterpieces The Black Jacobins and Beyond a Boundary and an account of her formative partnership with him over three decades Her experience with the Caribbean movement for independence and federation is reflected in her introduction to Ujamaa the extraordinary work of Tanzanians to bypass capitalism and much more Steeped in the tradition of Marx James draws on half a century of organizing across sectors struggles and national boundaries with others in the Wages for Housework Campaign and the Global Women s Strike an autonomous network of women men and other genders that agree with their perspective There is one continuum between the care and protection of people and of the planet both must be a priority beginning with a care income for everyone doing this vital work James makes the powerful argument that the climate justice movement can draw on all the movements people have formed to refuse their particular exploitation to destroy the capitalist hierarchy that is destroying the world Our time is now
