Gruesome Spectacles Austin Sarat, 2014-04-30 Gruesome Spectacles tells the sobering history of botched mismanaged and painful executions in the U S from 1890 to the present Since the book s initial publication in 2014 the cruel and unusual executions of a number of people on death row including Clayton Lockett in Oklahoma and Joseph Wood in Arizona have made headlines and renewed vigorous debate surrounding the death penalty in America Austin Sarat s book instantly became an essential resource for citizens scholars and lawmakers interested in capital punishment even the Supreme Court which cited the book in its recent opinion Glossip v Gross Now in paperback the book includes a new preface outlining the latest twists and turns in the death penalty debate including the recent galvanization of citizens and leaders alike as recent botched executions have unfolded in the press Sarat argues that unlike in the past today s botched executions seem less like inexplicable mishaps and more like the latest symptoms of a death penalty machinery in disarray Gruesome Spectacles traces the historical evolution of methods of execution from hanging or firing squad to electrocution to gas and lethal injection Even though each of these technologies was developed to perfect state killing by decreasing the chance of a cruel death an estimated three percent of all American executions went awry in one way or another Sarat recounts the gripping and truly gruesome stories of some of these deaths stories obscured by history and to some extent the popular press

Human Remains Helen Patricia MacDonald, 2006-01-01 Until 1832 when an Act of Parliament began to regulate the use of bodies for anatomy in Britain public dissection was regularly and legally carried out on the bodies of murderers and a shortage of cadavers gave rise to the infamous murders committed by Burke and Hare to supply dissection subjects to Dr Robert Knox the anatomist This book tells the scandalous story of how medical men obtained the corpses upon which they worked before the use of human remains was regulated Helen MacDonald looks particularly at the activities of British surgeons in nineteenth century Van Diemens Land a penal colony in which a ready supply of bodies was available Not only convicted murderers but also Aborigines and the unfortunate poor who died in hospitals were routinely turned over to the surgeons This sensitive but searing account shows how abuses happen even within the conventions adopted by civilized societies It reveals how from Burke and Hare to today s televised dissections by German anatomist Dr Gunther von Hagens some peoples bodies become other peoples entertainment

Watching War on the Twenty-First Century Stage Clare Finburgh Delijani, 2017-07-27 What do we watch when we watch war Who manages public perceptions of war and how Watching War on the Twenty First Century Stage Spectacles of Conflict is the first publication to examine how theatre in the UK has staged debated and challenged the ways in which spectacle is habitually weaponized in times of war The battle for hearts and minds and the war of images are fields of combat that can be as powerful as armed conflict And today spectacle and conflict the two concepts that frame the book have joined forces via audio visual technologies in ways that are more powerful than ever Clare Finburgh s original and interdisciplinary interrogation provides a richly provocative account of the structuring role that spectacle plays in warfare engaging with the works of philosopher Guy Debord cultural theorist Jean Baudrillard visual studies specialist Marie Jos Mondzain and performance scholar Hans Thies Lehmann She offers coherence to a large and expanding field of theatrical war representation by analysing in careful detail a spectrum of works as diverse as expressionist drama documentary theatre comedy musical satire and dance theatre She demonstrates how features unique to the theatrical art namely the construction of a fiction in the presence of the audience can present possibilities for a more informed engagement with how spectacles of war are produced and circulated If we watch with more resistance we may contribute in significant ways to the demilitarization of images And what if this were the first step towards a literal demilitarization

Man with the Killer Smile Mitchel P. Roth, 2022-11-15. On a cold windy December night in 1926, hell was unleashed on a tenant farm near Farwell, the last Texas town before the New Mexico border. Prone to the bottle and fits of rage, the burly man with the smiling blue eyes was in no mood to quarrel with his third wife over his bootleg whisky and sexual abuse of his stepdaughter. He went from room to room in the house, killing his wife and each child with primitive cutting tools and his bare hands. By the time he concluded his bloody work, he had taken the lives of nine family members ranging in age from 2 to 41, committing what one local reporter called the blackest crime in the history of the West Texas Panhandle. Husband, father, uncle, embezzler, serial mass murderer, philanderer, child molester, convict, and military deserter, George Jefferson Hassell was many things to many people; most of them bad. His pattern of familicide crime had begun in 1917 when he slaughtered his common law wife and her three kids in Whittier California Later in Texas he married his brother s wife and became stepfather to her eight children Using Hassell s confessions and his many interviews with reporters as well as the trial transcripts and reminiscences of those who crossed paths with him in Texas Oklahoma and California Mitchel P Roth presents the first comprehensive account of the life and crimes of one of the least known multiple murderers in Texas let alone American history Roth situates Hassell s saga within the 1920s Texas criminal justice system including the death penalty which Hassell ultimately received from Old Sparky the electric chair at Huntsville Lights, Camera, Execution! Helen J. Knowles-Gardner, Bruce E. Altschuler, Jaclyn Schildkraut, 2019-10-16 Lights Camera Execution Cinematic Portrayals of Capital Punishment fills a prominent void in the existing film studies and death penalty literature Each chapter focuses on a particular cinematic portrayal of the death penalty in the United States Some of the analyzed films are well known Hollywood blockbusters such as Dead Man Walking 1995 others are more obscure such as the made for television movie Murder in Coweta County 1983 By contrasting different portrayals where appropriate and identifying themes common to many of the studied films such as the concept of dignity and the role of race and racial discrimination the volume strengthens the reader s ability to engage in comparative analysis of topics stories and cinematic techniques Written by three professors with extensive experience teaching and writing about the death penalty film studies and criminal justice Lights Camera Execution is deliberately designed for both classroom use and general readership Seeing Justice Mary Angela Bock, 2021 A behind the scenes look at the struggles between visual journalists and officials over what the public sees and therefore much of what the public knows of the criminal justice system In the contexts of crime social justice and the law nothing in visual media is as it seems In today s mediated social world visual communication has shifted to a democratic sphere that has significantly changed the way we understand and use images as evidence In Seeing Justice Mary Angela Bock examines the way criminal justice in the US is presented in visual media by focusing on the grounded practices of visual journalists in relationship with law enforcement Drawing upon extended interviews participant observation contemporary court cases and critical discourse analysis Bock provides a detailed examination of the way digitization is altering the relationships between media consumers and the criminal justice system From tabloid coverage of the last public hanging in the US to Karen shaming videos from mug shots to perp walks she focuses on the practical struggles between journalists police and court officials to control the way images influence their resulting narratives Revealing the way powerful interests shape what the public sees Seeing Justice offers a model for understanding how images are used in news narrative
