Grandfather Counts Reading Rainbow Books:

Creating Reading Rainbow Barbara Irwin, Tony Buttino, Pam Johnson, 2024-06-18 Reading Rainbow is one of the most successful PBS children's series in television history earning numerous national and international awards including 26 Emmys and a Peabody Award But perhaps more important than anything else Reading Rainbow helped generations of children cultivate a love for books Reading Rainbow is very much a story of humble beginnings and enormous perseverance Over five summers Tony Buttino Sr and his colleagues at WNED TV the public television station in Buffalo New York worked in collaboration with educators and librarians to experiment with summer reading programs But after trialing these programs the WNED team realized there was a big need for a new children's literacy series and believed they could create a new show with local and national collaborators and friends After fits and starts and enough twists and turns to fill a children's book Reading Rainbow premiered in the summer of 1983 and captured the attention of 6.5 million young viewers Creating Reading Rainbow explores the many intriguing and homespun stories that when woven together reveal how this groundbreaking and iconic television series came to be What led to the series being called Reading Rainbow How did the road to Reading Rainbow wind its way through Mister Rogers Neighborhood How did a public television station in Buffalo spearhead a movement in education and spark the passion for reading in millions of children And what does lasagna have to do with it

Grandfather Counts Andrea Cheng, Gong Gong Grandfather is coming from China to live with Helen's family Helen is excited but anxious How will she and her siblings who know only English communicate with Gong Gong who speaks only Chinese At first Gong Gong keeps to himself reading the Chinese newspapers he brought with him Then one day as Helen sits outside watching for the train that runs behind her house Gong Gong joins her He starts counting the train cars in Chinese and then teaches Helen the words Helen reciprocates by teaching Gong Gong to count in English Soon Helen and Gong Gong are teaching each other more words and a special bond between them begins to develop and grow A moving intergenerational story Grandfather Counts highlights the universality of the love shared between grandparent and grandchild a love that helps them cross the boundaries of language and culture
