A Handbook for the Art and Science of Teaching Robert J. Marzano, John L. Brown, 2009-06-10 In A Handbook for the Art and Science of Teaching Robert J. Marzano and John L. Brown help you explore and refine your instructional strategies always with the goal of enhancing student achievement. As a companion volume to Marzano's The Art and Science of Teaching, the handbook is intended to be a guide for individual teachers, study groups, and professional developers working together to improve their teaching. It is organized into 25 modules, each related to one of the 10 design questions introduced in the earlier book. Each module begins with a series of reflection questions and concludes with a set of self-assessment questions that allow the reader to determine areas that might need further work. At the heart of each module are specific strategies for addressing the key components of effective teaching. Dozens of examples illustrate the strategies in action in elementary and secondary classrooms in all subject areas. The strategies provide a thorough grounding in the science of teaching. How a teacher chooses to implement them constitutes the art of teaching. Both elements are necessary for improving student achievement and creating successful schools. For anyone committed to developing a wide range of teaching skills, this handbook is a welcome road map to best practices.

Fluency and Reading Comprehension in Typical Readers and Dyslexic Readers: Volume II Manuel Soriano-Ferrer, Simone Aparecida Capellini, Giseli Donadon Germano, 2024-03-06 This Research Topic is the second edition of Fluency and reading comprehension in typical readers and dyslexics readers Volume I. This Second Edition Research Topic is focused on the characterization of the reading/writing difficulties and their comorbidities and in the analysis of evidence-based recommendations for early interventions and treatment of these difficulties within the fields of neuropsychology, speech/language pathology, and educational psychology. Reading involves decoding and comprehension components, and to become efficient, it requires a large number of cognitive and linguistic processes. Among those decoding failures can have different origins, such as deficits in phonological and/or visual processing. In addition, a child with reading difficulties might also have problems in the acquisition of writing and handwriting performance. This is an important point to be discussed, as reading and writing both suffer interference from vocabulary acquisition, linguistic skills, memory skills, reading and writing practices, and literacy methods. These processes become important only when the professional needs to deal with students presenting learning difficulties. Difficulty in using the knowledge of conversion rules between grapheme/phoneme to word reading construction or phoneme/grapheme for writing can be identified in schoolchildren with dyslexia, dysgraphia, and dysortography, being a specific learning disorder with a neurological etiology. In addition, there is established evidence of a speech/language processing basis. Students with specific learning disabilities can show a range of cognitive difficulties, e.g., rapid naming, executive functioning, working memory. These presented difficulties interfere in their learning process, impairing their learning development.

Remote Teaching and Learning in the Elementary ELA Classroom Sean Roday, Taylor M. Jacobson, 2021-05-09 Teaching in remote distance and hybrid environments can be overwhelming and confusing and poses many challenges for novice and veteran teachers alike. In this comprehensive and practice-ready book you'll find clear ideas for implementing the best practices of English language instruction in remote teaching settings. Understanding that remote teaching looks different in each subject, Ruday and Jacobson identify methods specifically designed for elementary ELA classrooms. Designed for use in remote, hybrid, and flex environments with synchronous or asynchronous learning, this resource gives teachers a toolbox of research-backed recommendations, ideas, examples, and practices for teaching in unpredictable and new environments. Ruday and Jacobson address essential topics including writing, grammar, and reading instruction, assessment, differentiation, culturally relevant teaching, family engagement, and communication technology, professional self-care, and more. Teachers will come away with ready-to-implement strategies and insights for high-quality instruction that can be adapted to any kind of remote learning environment. The Ambitious Elementary School Elizabeth McGhee Hassrick, Stephen W. Raudenbush, Lisa Rosen, 2017-04-21. The challenge of overcoming educational inequality in the United States can sometimes appear overwhelming, and great controversy exists as to whether or not elementary schools are up to the task. Whether they can ameliorate existing social inequalities and initiate opportunities for economic and civic flourishing for all children. This book shows what can happen when you rethink schools from the ground up with precisely these goals in mind: approaching educational inequality and its entrenched causes head-on, student by student. Drawing on an in-depth study of real schools on the South Side of Chicago, Elizabeth McGhee Hassrick, Stephen W. Raudenbush, and Lisa Rosen argue that effectively meeting the challenge of educational inequality requires a complete reorganization of institutional structures as well as wholly new norms, values, and practices that are animated by a relentless commitment to student learning. They examine a model that pulls teachers out of their isolated classrooms and places them into collaborative environments where they can share their curricula, teaching methods, and assessments of student progress with a school-based network of peers, parents, and other professionals. Within this structure, teachers, school leaders, social workers, and parents collaborate to ensure that every child receives instruction tailored to his or her developing skills. Cooperating schools share new tools for assessment and instruction and become sites for the training of new teachers. Parents become respected partners, and expert practitioners work with researchers to evaluate their work and refine their models for educational organization and practice. The authors show not only what such a model looks like but the dramatic results it produces for student learning and achievement. The result is a fresh, deeply informed, and remarkably clear portrait of school reform that directly addresses the real problems of educational inequality. Language Disorders from Infancy Through Adolescence Rhea Paul, 2007-01-01. This text provides students with the information needed to properly assess childhood language disorders and decide appropriate treatments. The book covers language development from birth to adolescence. Engaging Students in Disciplinary Literacy, K-6 Cynthia H. Brock, Virginia J. Goatley, Taffy E. Raphael, Elisabeth Trost-Shahata, Catherine M. Weber, 2014. This accessible book will help elementary school teachers improve literacy instruction inside or outside the Common Core environment. The authors address teachers' instructional needs by introducing key concepts from current trends in literacy education from high level standards to the use of 21st century literacies Readers then follow teachers as they successfully implement the curriculum they developed to promote high level thinking and engagement with disciplinary content The text focuses on three disciplinary literacy units of instruction a science unit in a 2nd grade classroom a social studies history unit in a 4th grade classroom and a mathematics unit in a 6th grade classroom Each unit revolves around a central inquiry question and includes research based strategies for using reading writing and classroom talk as tools to foster disciplinary understandings This unique insider s look at how real teachers build and implement a Common Core aligned curriculum will be an invaluable resource for teachers schools and districts as they move forward to align their own curricula I can t imagine a more timely book a set of elegant principles and some stunning examples of how teachers can use reading writing and talk to enhance learning in the science social studies and mathematics classroom P David Pearson professor of language and literacy and human development Graduate School of Education University of California Berkeley If you re wondering how to integrate literacy across the content disciplines this is the text you will want to keep and return to often Diane Lapp distinguished professor of education San Diego State University Inspiring and better still infectious Donald R Bear Iowa State University Provides concrete ideas for teaching students to use literacy to think like scientists historians and mathematicians Douglas Fisher professor of educational leadership San Diego State University and teacher leader Health Sciences High and Middle College Resources in Education ,2000 Infotext Karen M.
