Information Modelling and Knowledge Bases XVI Yasushi Kiyoki,Y. Kiyoki,Benkt Wangler,Hannu Jaakkola,Hannu Kangassalo,2005 Modelling of information is necessary in developing information systems Information is acquired from many sources by using various methods and tools It must be recognized conceptualized and conceptually organized efficiently so that users can easily understand and use it Modelling is needed to understand explain organize predict and reason on information It also helps to master the role and functions of components of information systems Modelling can be performed with many different purposes in mind at different levels and by using different notions and different background theories It can be made by emphasizing users conceptual understanding of information on a domain level on an algorithmic level or on representation levels On each level the objects and structures used on them are different and different rules govern the behavior on them Therefore the notions rules theories languages and methods for modelling on different levels are also different It will be useful if we can develop theories and methodologies for modelling to be used in different situations because databases knowledge bases and repositories in knowledge management systems developed on the basis of models and used to technically store information are growing day by day In this publication the interest is focused on modelling of information and one of the central topics is modelling of time Scientific and technical papers of high quality are brought together in this book Information Modelling and Knowledge Bases XXVII Tatjana

Henno,Y. Kiyoki,T. Tokuda,2012-01-18 Information modelling and knowledge bases have become hot topics not only in academic communities concerned with information systems and computer science but also wherever information technology is applied in the world of business This book presents the proceedings of the 21st European Japanese Conference on Information Modelling and Knowledge Bases EJC 2011 held in Tallinn Estonia in June 2011 The EJC conferences provide a worldwide forum for researchers and practitioners in the field to exchange results and experiences achieved in computer science and related disciplines such as conceptual analysis design and specification of information systems multimedia information modelling multimedia systems software engineering knowledge and process management cross cultural communication and context modelling Attention is also paid to theoretical disciplines including cognitive science artificial intelligence logic linguistics and analytical philosophy The selected papers 16 full papers 9 short papers 2 papers based on panel sessions and 2 on invited presentations cover a wide range of topics including database semantics knowledge representation software engineering www information management context based information retrieval ontology image databases temporal and spatial databases document data management process management cultural modelling and many others Covering many aspects of system modelling and optimization this book will be of interest to all those working in the field of information modelling and knowledge bases Reusable Components for Knowledge Modelling Enrico Motta,E. Motta,1999 Knowledge-based Software Engineering Pavol Návrát,Haruki Ueno,1998 This text collects contributions from different countries to a wide range of topics in software engineering Special emphasis is given to application of knowledge base methods to software engineering problems The papers tackle such areas as architecture of software and design patterns Qualitative Spatial Reasoning M. Teresa Escrig,Francisco Toledo,1998 With the aim of automatically reasoning with spatial aspects in a cognitive way several qualitative models have been developed recently in the Qualitative Spatial Reasoning field However there is no model to reason with several spatial aspects in a uniform way Moreover most of these models simplify spatial objects to points In this book we present a novel approach for integrating the qualitative concepts of orientation distance and cardinal directions using points as well as extended objects as primitive of reasoning based on Constraint Logic Programming The resulting model has been applied to build a qualitative Navigation Simulator on the structured environment of the city of Castellon
