Lessons From Latin America Innovations In Politics Culture And Development:

Lessons from Latin America Kirk Bowman, Felipe Arocena, 2014-08-20 Since the early 1980s Latin American countries have been innovative in a range of policy and cultural experiences including health care voting pensions and multiculturalism And yet their policy innovations are rarely found in textbooks This book addresses that gap providing a fascinating and wide ranging exploration of both the history of looking down at Latin America and the political economic and cultural lessons including successes failures and unintended consequences that should inform important policy discussions around the world

Latin America and Policy Diffusion Osmany Porto de Oliveira, Cecilia Osorio Gonnet, Sergio Montero, Cristiane Kerches da Silva Leite, 2019-12-09 Latin American countries have for a long time been importers of public policies and institutions from the Global North The colonial legacy and resulting patterns of international relations during the 20th century favoured a course of adoption and hybridization of political institutions In recent decades a new conjuncture has emerged in which Latin American policies have started to diffuse South South and even South North Led by Brazil with Participatory Budgeting and the Bolsa Familia program other countries in the region soon followed The Bus Rapid Transit BRT system and bicycle policies in Curitiba and Bogot have also reached wide international recognition and circulation And yet despite Latin America s new role as a policy exporter little is known about its dynamics causes and effects Why have Latin American policies been diffused inside and outside the region Which actors are involved What driving forces affect these processes This innovative collection offers a new perspective on the policy diffusion phenomena Drawing on different examples from Latin American experiences in urban local policies and national social policies experts present a new framework to study this phenomenon centered on the mobilization of ideas interests and discourses for policy diffusion Latin America and Policy Diffusion will be of great interest to researchers educators advanced students and practitioners working in the fields of political science public policy international relations and Latin American Studies Reimagining Global Philanthropy Kirk Bowman, Jon

Wilcox, 2021-09-07 Well meaning Westerners want to find ways to help the less fortunate Today many are not just volunteering abroad and donating to international nonprofits but also advancing innovations and launching projects that aim to be socially transformative However often these activities are not efficient ways of helping others and too many projects cause more harm than good Reimagining Global Philanthropy shares the journey of a conservative banker and a progressive professor to find a better way forward Kirk S Bowman and Jon R Wilcox explain the boom in the global compassion industry revealing the incentives that produce inefficient practices and poor outcomes Instead of supporting start up projects with long shot hopes for success they argue we can dramatically improve results by empowering local leaders Applying lessons from the success of community banks Bowman and Wilcox develop and implement a new model that significantly raises philanthropic efficacy Their straightforward and rigorously tested approach calls for community members to take the lead while outside partners play a supporting role Bowman and Wilcox recount how they tested the model in Brazil demonstrating the value of giving people in marginalized communities the opportunity to innovate In a time of widespread social reckoning this book shows how global philanthropy can confront its blind spots and failures in order to achieve truly transformative outcomes Readers can access five of the documentary films discussed in the book on a companion website In addition to the films chapter discussion questions and other supplemental materials are also available at the site The Cambridge History of Latin American Law in Global Perspective Thomas Duve,Tamar Herzog,2024-02-08 Covering the precolonial period to the present The Cambridge History of Latin American Law in Global Perspective provides a comprehensive overview of Latin American law revealing the vast commonalities and differences within the continent as well as entanglements with countries around the world Bringing together experts from across the Americas and Europe this innovative treatment of Latin American law explains how law operated in different historical settings introduces a wide variety of sources of legal knowledge and focuses on law as a social practice It sheds light on topics such as the history of indigenous peoples laws the significance of religion in law Latin American independences national constitutions and codifications human rights dictatorships transitional justice and legal pluralism and a broad panorama of key aspects of the history of statehood and law This title is also available as Open Access on Cambridge Core On Wars Michael Mann,2023-08-08 A history of wars through the ages and across the world and the irrational calculations that so often lie behind them Benjamin Franklin once said There never was a good war or a bad peace But what determines whether war or peace is chosen Award winning sociologist Michael Mann concludes that it is a handful of political leaders people with emotions and ideologies and constrained by inherited culture and institutions who undertake such decisions usually irrationally choosing war and seldom achieving their desired results Mann examines the history of war through the ages and across the globe from ancient Rome to Ukraine from imperial China to the Middle East from Japan and Europe to Latin and North America He explores the reasons groups go to war the different forms of wars how warfare has changed and how it has stayed the same and the surprising ways in which seemingly powerful countries lose wars In masterfully combining ideological economic political and military analysis Mann offers new insight into the many consequences of choosing war Trans-Pacific Encounters Koichi Hagimoto,2016-04-26 While the origin of trans pacific contact between Asia and the New World can be traced as far back as the pre Columbian period it was not until the fifteenth century that communication across the Pacific became constant Despite this history the myriad encounters that constitute the basic contours of transpacific studies have often been overshadowed by the traditional emphasis on transatlantic studies In addition although socio political ties between Asia and Latin America have drawn attention among politicians and economists in recent years there continues to be a critical void in the studies of literary cultural and historical relations between the two regions This book challenges this double negligence and engages in a global discussion about the relationship between Asia and the Hispanic world which includes not only Spanish America but also the Philippines under the Spanish empire The essays presented in this volume explore the multidimensional nature of the trans pacific intersection through historical studies as well as literary and cultural criticism Topics investigated include for example the overlooked aspect of the Hispanic Philippines the Orientalized images of Latin American colonial art modernista and vanguardista writings about India and the experience of a Peruvian migrant worker in contemporary Japan The diverse perspectives that the authors offer create a dialogue with each other and together provide an interdisciplinary approach to the understanding of trans pacific encounters both past and present

Globalizing Innovation
 Patrick J.W. Egan, 2018-01-12 The impact of host country institutions and policy on innovation by multinational firms in emerging economies In the past multinational firms have looked to developing countries as sources of raw materials markets or production efficiencies but rarely as locations for innovation Today however R but Egan finds host country institutions and the configuration of the host country s investment policies have a strong impact on firm decisions and evolving country investment profiles Egan uses econometric analysis to identify determinants of multinational innovation and examines differences among state institutions as a key variable He then offers a detailed case study assessing Ireland s attempts to use foreign direct investment in innovation as a catalyst for development While FDI is a potential vehicle for industrial upgrading Egan cautions it is neither necessary nor sufficient for development Furthermore innovation intensive investments are not likely to develop linkages with local actors or otherwise embed themselves in host economies in the absence of active discriminating policies channeled through coherent and coordinated institutions

McNulty, 2019-05-14 People are increasingly unhappy with their governments in democracies around the world In countries as diverse as India Ecuador and Uganda governments are responding to frustrations by mandating greater citizen participation at the local and state level Officials embrace participatory reforms believing that citizen councils and committees lead to improved accountability and more informed communities Yet there's been little research on the efficacy of these efforts to improve democracy despite an explosion in their popularity since the mid 1980s Democracy from Above tests the hypothesis that top down reforms strengthen democracies and evaluates the conditions that affect their success Stephanie L McNulty addresses the global context of participatory reforms in developing nations She observes and interprets what happens after greater citizen involvement is mandated in seventeen countries with close case studies of Guatemala Bolivia and Peru The first cross national comparison on this issue Democracy from Above explores whether the reforms effectively redress the persistent problems of discrimination elite capture clientelism and corruption in the countries that adopt them As officials and reformers around the world and at every level of government look to strengthen citizen involvement and confidence in the political process McNulty provides a clear understanding of the possibilities and limitations of nationally mandated participatory reforms Handbook of Democratic Innovation and Governance Stephen Elstub, Oliver Escobar, 2019-12-27 Democratic innovations are proliferating in politics governance policy and public administration These new processes of public participation are reimagining the relationship between citizens and institutions This Handbook advances understanding of democratic innovations in theory and practice by critically reviewing their importance throughout the world The overarching themes are a focus on citizens and their relationship to these innovations and the resulting effects on political equality The Handbook therefore offers a definitive overview of existing research on democratic innovations while

Nelson, 2000-07-24 In this volume published in 2000 leading scholars analyze in a series of essays and commentaries how newly industrializing countries NICs particularly those in East Asia have transformed themselves from technologically backward and poor to relatively modern and affluent economies over the past thirty years The contributors provide interesting theoretical perspectives and offer insights into the process of technological progress at both the macro and micro levels in these countries The essays review how firms particularly those in electronics and automobiles have dynamically accumulated technological capabilities at the micro level how public policies have shaped the process of technological progress at the national level and what problems some of these countries face today at both levels In addition the volume provides a comparison of East Asian NIC s with their Latin American counterparts The discussion also offers useful lessons for policies in other developing countries

Resisting Extortion Eduardo Moncada, 2022-01-06 Criminal extortion is an understudied but widespread and severe problem in Latin America In states that cannot or choose not to uphold the rule of law victims are often seen as helpless in the face of powerful criminals However even under such difficult circumstances victims resist criminal extortion in surprisingly different ways Drawing on extensive fieldwork in violent localities in Colombia El Salvador and Mexico Moncada weaves together interviews focus groups and participatory drawing exercises to explain why victims pursue distinct strategies to resist criminal extortion The analysis traces and compares processes that lead to individual acts of everyday resistance sporadic killings by ad hoc groups of victims and police institutionalized and sustained collective vigilantism and coordination between victims and states to co produce order in ways that both strengthen and undermine the rule of law This book offers valuable new insights into the broader politics of crime and the state

Gender Intentional Crop Breeding: From Integration To Institutional Innovation Hale Tufan, Vivian Polar, Jacqueline Ashby, 2025-06-02 Significant progress in agricultural technology development has remained persistently blind to social and gender inequalities Creating agricultural research ecosystems and institutions that address gender inequality requires structural and systemic analysis One of the major areas of investment in agricultural innovation is plant breeding Integrating social welfare objectives in plant breeding is a good starting point to catalyze progress towards gender equality objectives in research for development at a global scale yet devoid of structural change these efforts risk falling short of expectations Intentionally addressing gender in plant breeding research can reshape the technical options goals and intended impact of breeding programs Improving the benefits delivered to rural women through plant breeding can be achieved through new methods and learning critically analyzing systematic barriers to equitable plant breeding research and documenting experiences that demonstrate positive change There is a wide diversity of global experiences where gender research has analyzed how gender differences influence needs preferences and potential benefits from crop varieties and crop specific traits Some of these experiences were able to successfully integrate results and learning from gender research into breeding processes and decisions while some have failed to demonstrate concrete actionable results in breeding programs
