Proactive and Dynamic Network Defense Cliff Wang, Zhuo Lu, 2019-05-22 This book discusses and summarizes current research issues identifies challenges and outlines future directions for proactive and dynamic network defense This book also presents the latest fundamental research results toward understanding proactive and dynamic network defense by top researchers in related areas It includes research results that offer formal frameworks to define proactive and dynamic network defense and develop novel models to analyze and evaluate proactive designs and strategies in computer systems network systems cyber physical systems and wireless networks A wide variety of scientific techniques have been highlighted to study these problems in the fundamental domain As the convergence of our physical and digital worlds grows fast pace protecting information systems from being tampered or unauthorized access is becoming one of the most importance issues The traditional mechanisms of network defense are built upon a static passive and reactive nature which has insufficient to defend against today s attackers that attempt to persistently analyze probe circumvent or fool such mechanisms It has not yet been fully investigated to address the early stage of cyber kill chain when adversaries carry out sophisticated reconnaissance to plan attacks against a defense system Recently proactive and dynamic network defense has been proposed as an important alternative towards comprehensive network defense Two representative types of such defense are moving target defense MTD and deception based techniques These emerging approaches show great promise to proactively disrupt the cyber attack kill chain and are increasingly gaining interest within both academia and industry However these approaches are still in their preliminary design stage Despite the promising potential there are research issues yet to be solved regarding the effectiveness efficiency costs and usability of such approaches In addition it is also necessary to identify future research directions and challenges which is an essential step towards fully embracing proactive and dynamic network defense This book will serve as a great introduction for advanced level computer science and engineering students who would like to start R D efforts in the field of proactive and dynamic network defense Researchers and professionals who work in this related field will also find this book useful as a reference

Statement of Disbursements of the House United States. Congress. House, 1996 Covers receipts and expenditures of appropriations and other funds HPC@Green IT Ralf Gruber, Vincent Keller, 2010-03-15 Making the most efficient use of computer systems has rapidly become a leading topic of interest for the computer industry and its customers alike However the focus of these discussions is often on single isolated and specific architectural and technological improvements for power reduction and conservation while ignoring the fact that power efficiency as a ratio of performance to power consumption is equally influenced by performance improvements and architectural power reduction Furthermore efficiency can be influenced on all levels of today s system hierarchies from single cores all the way to distributed Grid environments To improve execution and power efficiency requires progress in such diverse fields as program optimization optimization of program scheduling and power reduction of idling system components for all levels of the system hierarchy Improving computer system efficiency requires improving system performance and reducing system power consumption To research and reach reasonable conclusions about system performance we need to not only understand the architectures of our computer systems and the available array of code transformations for performance optimizations but we also need to be able to express this understanding in performance models good enough to guide decisions about code optimizations for specific systems This understanding is necessary on all levels of the system hierarchy from single cores to nodes to full high performance computing HPC systems and eventually to Grid environments with multiple systems and resources
