Keeping The Wanjinās Fresh Sam Woolagoodja And The Enduring Power Of Lalai:

Keeping the Wanjinās Fresh Valda Blundell, Donny Woolagoodja, 2005 Keeping the Wanjinās Fresh Sam Woolagoodja and the Enduring Power of Lalai is the story of the people of the Wanjinās and their unbroken living cosmology of Lalai the Dreaming manifest most memorably in the dazzling giant Wanjina designed by Donny Woolagoodja for the opening ceremony of the Sydney Olympics It is also the story of Sam Woolagoodja who was responsible for repainting the sacred Wanjinās in many of the rock shelters that dot the Kimberley landscape and was among the first to paint the sacred stories on bark and board for Worrorra children living far from their homelands Keeping the Wanjinās Fresh traces the journey that brought Donny to rekindling the tradition of freshening the Wanjinās Thirty two full colour plates feature Sam's and Donny's paintings and the work of other major Mowanjum artists BOOK JACKET Histories of Australian Rock Art Research Jo McDonald, 2022-09-06 Australia has one of the largest inventories of rock art in the world with pictographs and petroglyphs found almost anywhere that has suitable rock surfaces in rock shelters and caves on boulders and rock platforms First Nations people have been marking these places with figurative imagery abstract designs stencils and prints for tens of thousands of years often engaging with earlier rock markings The art reflects and expresses changing experiences within landscapes over time spirituality history law and lore as well as relationships between individuals and groups of people plants animals land and Ancestral Beings that are said to have created the world including some rock art Since the late 1700s people arriving in Australia have been fascinated with the rock art they encountered with detailed studies commencing in the late 1800s Through the 1900s an impressive body of research on Australian rock art was undertaken with dedicated academic study using archaeological methods employed since the late 1940s Since then Australian rock art has been researched from various perspectives including that of Traditional Owners custodians and other community members Through the 1900s there was also growing interest in Australian rock art from researchers across the globe leading many to visit or migrate to Australia to undertake rock art research In this volume the varied histories of Australian rock art research from different parts of the country are explored not only in terms of key researchers developments and changes over time but also the crucial role of First Nations people themselves in investigations of this key component of their living heritage

The ^AOxford Handbook of the Archaeology and Anthropology of Rock Art Bruno David, Ian J. McNiven, 2018-10-17 Written by leading experts in the field The Oxford Handbook of the Archaeology and Anthropology of Rock Art showcases the latest advances in methods and theories of rock art research This volume appeals to rock art archaeology and anthropology students and scholars with interests in symbolic practices and processes visual arts cultural heritage management and Indigenous studies Open-Air Rock-Art Conservation and Management Timothy Darvill, Antonio Batarda Fernandes, 2014-06-20 While much has been achieved in understanding and managing weather effects and erosion phenomena affecting ancient imagery within the relatively protected environments of caves and rock shelters the same cannot be said of rock art panels situated in the open air Despite the fact that the number of known sites has risen dramatically in recent decades there are few examples in which the weathering and erosion dynamics are under investigation with a view to developing proposals to mitigate the impact of natural and cultural processes Most of the work being done in different parts of the world appears to be ad hoc with minimal communication on such matters between teams and with the wider archaeological community This richly illustrated book evaluates rock art conservation in an holistic way bringing together researchers from across the world to share experiences of work in progress or recently completed The chapters focus on a series of key themes documentation projects and resource assessments the identification and impact assessment of weathering erosion processes at work in open air rock art sites the practicalities of potential or implemented conservation interventions experimentation and monitoring programs and general management issues connected with public presentation and the demands of ongoing research investigations Consideration is given to the conservation of open air rock art imagery from many periods and cultural traditions across the Old and New Worlds This timely volume will be of interest to conservators managers and researchers dealing with aesthetic and ethical issues as well as technical and practical matters regarding the conservation of open air rock art sites

The Art and Archaeology of Human Engagements with Birds of Prey Robert J. Wallis, 2023-10-05 Of all avian groups birds of prey in particular have long been a prominent subject of fascination in many human societies This book demonstrates that the art and materiality of human engagements with raptors has been significant through deep time and across the world from earliest prehistory to Indigenous thinking in the present day Drawing on a wide range of global case studies and a plurality of complementary perspectives it explores the varied and fluid dynamics between humans and birds of prey as evidenced in this diverse art historical and archaeological record From their depictions as powerful beings in visual art and their important roles in Indigenous mythologies to the significance of their body parts as active agents in religious rituals the intentional deposition of their faunal remains and the display of their preserved bodies in museums there is no doubt that birds of prey have been figures of great import for the shaping of human society and culture However several of the chapters in this volume are particularly concerned with looking beyond the culture nature dichotomy and human centred accounts to explore perspectival and other post humanist thinking on human raptor ontologies and epistemologies The contributors recognize that human raptor relationships are not driven exclusively by human intentionality and that when these species meet they relate to and become with one another This raptor with human focused approach allows for a productive re framing of questions about human raptor interstices enables fresh thinking about established evidence and offers signposts for present and future intra actions with birds of prey

German Ethnography in Australia Nicolas Peterson,Anna Kenny,2017-09-21 The contribution of German ethnography to Australian anthropological scholarship on Aboriginal societies and cultures has been limited primarily because few people working in the field read German But it has also been neglected because its humanistic concerns with language religion and mythology contrasted with the mainstream British social anthropological tradition that prevailed in Australia until the late 1960s The advent of native title claims which require drawing on the earliest ethnography for any area together with an increase in research on rock art of the Kimberley region has stimulated interest in this German ethnography as have some recent book translations Even so several major bodies of ethnography such as the 13 volumes on the cultures of northeastern South Australia and the seven volumes on the Aranda of the Alice Springs region remain inaccessible along with many ethnographically rich articles and reports in mission archives In 18 chapters this book introduces and reviews the significance of this neglected work much of it by missionaries who first wrote on Australian Aboriginal cultures in the 1840s Almost all of these German speakers in particular the missionaries learnt an Aboriginal language in order to be able to document religious beliefs mythology and songs as a first step to conversion As a result they produced an enormously valuable body of work that will greatly enrich regional ethnographies Music and Mourning

Jane W. Davidson, Sandra Garrido, 2016-04-28 While grief is suffered in all cultures it is expressed differently all over the world in accordance with local customs and beliefs Music has been associated with the healing of grief for many centuries with Homer prescribing music as an antidote to sorrow as early as the 7th Century BC The changing role of music in expressions of grief and mourning throughout history and in different cultures reflects the changing attitudes of society towards life and death itself This volume investigates the role of music in mourning rituals across time and culture discussing the subject from the multiple perspectives of music history music psychology ethnomusicology and music therapy Side by Side? Maya Lolen Devereaux Haviland, 2016-12-08 A new wave of community arts projects has opened up exciting areas of cross cultural creativity in recent years These collaborations of local people arts facilitators anthropologists and supporting organisations represent a flourishing new form of arts based collaborative anthropology that aims to document the stories and cultures of local people using creative art forms Often focusing on social and cultural agendas from education and health promotion to advocacy and cultural heritage preservation participants bring together methods historically linked to anthropology with those from the arts and community development Side by Side The Challenge of Co creativity investigates these creative projects as sites of significant cultural creation and potential social change Through the exploration of a range of diverse collaborations the common threads and historical contexts in this domain of cultural creativity are examined The role that creative arts collaborations can have in disrupting existing hierarchies of social power and knowledge creation is analysed as are the potential futures historical and cultural implications of these co creative practices Drawing on the experiences and reflections of over 30 facilitators from more than 7 countries and written by an experienced collaborative arts practitioner and researcher this exciting forthcoming book will play a defining role in the emerging critical discourse on collaborative art and collaborative anthropology It is essential reading for collaborative
