Born in Alabama in 1933 and educated in Toledo and New York, Martin has lived and worked most of his life in Ohio. His parents appreciated literature and music and saw to it that their young son was immersed in the arts. The family moved to Toledo, Ohio, when Herbert was twelve years old. He began to write poetry during his undergraduate years at the University of Toledo, from which he graduated in 1964. Herbert Woodward Martin and the African American Tradition in Poetry chronicles the writing and performing career of Herbert W. Martin, focusing on the way his life has informed his art and situating his creative work within the context of the African American tradition in poetry. Author Ronald Primeau examines Martin's place in American literature with particular emphasis on his multidisciplinary talents and his contributions to the arts through his highly regarded performances of poetry, especially that of Paul Laurence Dunbar, and his acting, playwriting, and composing. Even though Martin's work is highly regarded, it has been anthologized.

The Love Addicts Jack B. Savage, 2009-11-22 What is Love? Meet Dean Orpheus, an addicted poet with a dark obsession he needs to understand. Love: A savage and oftentimes satirical exploration. Dean's impressionable years unravel a life filled with sadistic bullies, unstable girlfriends, and lustrous dreams. But when he meets the beautiful Eunice, things change. Together, their Love casts a poetic saga, illuminating portals to lush supernatural romances and powerful truths. But in the wake of their fractured separation, a drained Dean loses all inspiration and succumbs to a whirlpool of addiction and self-loathing While in rehab Dean forms a strained relationship with Michael a therapist Their conversations shift and together they struggle to answer the questions What is Love How did it bring Dean to this And where is it taking him Hate You Can Trust: Another Dance Around the Maypole with The Klute The Klute,2011-02-21 Another collection of poetry from The Klute featuring Love Letter to Former Alaska Governor Sarah Palin 2012 The Merit Badge of Pain Adam and Steve Burn Wall Street Burn Madman Hip Hop Republican Fun for the Whole Family Leprechaun's Wake A Warning to Levi Johnston from the Colonists of LV 426 With a forward by The Monarch lots of rambling the Klute's poetic satirical pen is as sharp as ever and no one is spared in this latest collection From the author Salvador Dal once said The sole difference between myself and a madman is the fact that I am not mad Consider this work my clutch at sanity a pop culture surrealist attempt to reconcile the monstrosity that is American culture with the beauty it can produce Hatred in poetry laughter in the face of incredibly banal nightmares That's all delightfully pretentious isn't it Cosmic Poetry From The Sin Bin... burbling from the tatters Debby F Denny,2013-09-19 A silly book about living homelessly on drugs afterwards one day subsequently recovering Watch this space The Routledge Encyclopedia of Indian Writing in English Manju Jaidka,Tej N. Dhar,2023-09-29 Today Indian writing in English is a field of study that cannot be overlooked Whereas at the turn of the 20th century writers from India who chose to write in English were either unheeded or underrated with time the literary world has been forced to recognize and accept their contribution to the corpus of world literatures in English Showcasing the burgeoning field of Indian English writing this encyclopedia documents the poets novelists essayists and dramatists of Indian origin since the pre independence era and their dedicated works Written by internationally recognized scholars this comprehensive reference book explores the history and development of Indian writers their major contributions and the critical reception accorded to them The Routledge Encyclopedia of Indian Writing in English will be a valuable resource to students teachers and academics navigating the vast area of contemporary world literature Love in Contemporary British Drama Korbinian Stöckl,2021-01-18 Despite the recent turn to affects and emotions in the humanities and despite the unceasing popularity of romantic and erotic love as a motif in fictional works of all genres the subject has received surprisingly little attention in academic studies of contemporary drama Love in Contemporary British Drama reflects the appeal of love as a topic and driving force in dramatic works with in depth analyses of eight pivotal plays from the past three decades Following an interdisciplinary and historical approach the study collects and condenses theories of love from philosophy and sociology to derive persisting discourses and to examine their reoccurrence and transformation in contemporary plays Special emphasis is put on narratives of love's compensatory function and precariousness and on how modifications of these narratives epitomise the peculiarities of emotional life in the social and cultural context of the present Based on the assumption that drama is especially inclined to draw on shared narratives for representations of love the book demonstrates that love is both a window to remnants of the past in the present and a proper subject matter for drama in times in which the suitability of the dramatic form has been questioned

Declaration of War Christopher Greenfield, 2021-11-27 Vanity is an iron curtain cursed upon those who choose to wield it So reads the last line in the foreword to Christopher Greenfield's newly renowned Declaration of War Influenced by the anti normative likes of Charles Bukowski the visionary idealism of Albert Camus the ruthless cultural critique of Friedrich Nietzsche and the naturalism of David Hume Greenfield calls into question via a series of short stories and poems the essential tenets of the human condition what it means to truly be free why we desire love and belonging wherein hatred and bigotry are rooted when we seemingly desire quite the opposite and the subliminal functions of power and authority that relentlessly work to keep us enslaved to our own primal self destructive tendencies in the midst of a society that has far outgrown the need for them Knowing first hand what it's like to be deemed the black dog rebel and the heretic of social circles Christopher Greenfield was intrigued by the curious fascination of his friends and colleagues The collection of works contained in the Declaration of War are based on real conversations debates and experiences that serve to allude to the grander image of human strife will power and the nature of one's own suffering that which if able to be harnessed may be used to create something beautiful beyond the absurdity of the superficial and mundane

Finding the World's Fullness Robert Cording, 2019-11-20 Forty years as a poet has kept Robert Cording looking at the details of everyday experience That long labor has brought him face to face with the inescapable complexity of a world that is full of suffering and injustice And grace This journey has convinced him that as Czeslaw Milosz puts it poetry embodies the double life of our common human circumstance as beings in between the dust that we are and the divinity to which we would aspire Cording's task has therefore been to evoke what he calls the primordial intuitions of Christianity that we live in a world we did not create that God's immanent presence is capable of breaking in on us at every moment that most of the time we cannot taste and see that presence because we live in a world of mirrors that only by attention can we live in the world but outside of our existing conceptions of it The reflections in Finding the World's Fullness comprising not only thoughts on metaphor but also close readings of poets ancient and modern including George Herbert Robert Browning Elizabeth Bishop and Stanley Kunitz suggest that as Richard Wilbur puts it The world's fullness is not made but found
