Human Chromosomes And Aging From 80 To 114 Years:

Human Chromosomes and Aging Teimuraz Lezhava, 2009 This book presents a comprehensive review of the morphology and function of chromosomes in elderly people The wide range of topics includes cyclical chromosome properties mutations repair progressive chromosome heterochromatinization with increasing age roles of nucleolar organizer regions sister chromatid exchanges homologue relationships heterochromatin regions and other chromosomal features in very old age This ground breaking book focuses on heterochromatinisation as a key determinant of the genetic apparatus function during senescence and an area to seek life prolonging interventions The book illustrates and updates progress in the field of cytogenetics of ageing The book contains 16 tables and 25 figures Encyclopedia of Biomedical Gerontology ,2019-11-20 Encyclopedia of Biomedical Gerontology Three Volume Set presents a wide range of topics ranging from what happens in the body during aging the reasons and mechanisms relating to those age related changes and their clinical psychological and social modulators and determinants The book covers the biological and medical aspects of gerontology within the general framework of the biological basis of assessing age biological mechanisms of aging age related changes in biological systems human age related diseases the biomedical practicality and impracticality of interventions and finally the ethics of intervention Provides a one stop resource to information written by world leading scholars in the field of biomedical gerontology Fills a critical gap of information in a field that has seen significant progress in the last 10 years Anti-aging Drugs Alexander M Vaiserman, 2017-02-01 Aging is a natural phenomenon that is peculiar to all living things However accumulating findings indicate that senescence could be postponed or prevented by certain approaches Substantial evidence has emerged supporting the possibility of radical human health and lifespan extension in particular through pharmacological modulation of aging A number of natural dietary ingredients and synthetic drugs have been assumed to have geroprotective potential In the development of anti aging therapeutics several cell insect and animal models may provide useful starting points prior to human studies This book provides an overview of current research aimed to search for life extending medications and describes pharmacological aspects of anti aging medicine Readers are introduced to the fascinating historical background of geroprotection in the first chapter In depth information on models for investigating geroprotective drugs precedes a section covering anti aging properties of pharmaceutical compounds such as calorie restriction mimetics autophagy inducers senolytics and mitochondrial antioxidants Finally strategies to translate discoveries from aging research into drugs and healthcare policy perspectives on anti ageing medicine are provided to give a complete picture of the field A timely and carefully edited collection of chapters by leading researchers in the field this book will be a fascinating and useful resource for pharmacologists gerontologists and any scientifically interested person wishing to know more about the current status of research into anti aging remedies challenges and opportunities Biogerontology Suresh I. S. Rattan, Serif Akman, 2007-05-07 Biological aging and interventionary strategies are investigated with the eventual goal of extending healthy human lifespan and minimizing the incidence of diseases associated with aging Biogerontologists evolutionary biologists biodemographers scientists in related basic research clinicians and dieticians came together in Istanbul Turkey to share their research and discuss the latest developments in this rapidly advancing field This volume presents chapters representative of the highlights of the meeting including contributions in the following areas 1 biological and nonbiological factors affecting lifespan and the quality of life 2 ethical and social issues related to lifespan and health span extension 3 novel areas of understanding aging physiological cellular and molecular aspects 4 new technologies to understand and modulate aging 5 the latest successful approaches in the prevention and treatment of age related diseases and 6 aging intervention prevention and modulation by genes natural and synthetic molecules and lifestyle modifications NOTE Annals volumes are available for sale as individual books or as a journal For information on institutional journal subscriptions please visit www.blackwellpublishing.com/nyas ACADEMY MEMBERS Please contact the New York Academy of Sciences directly to place your order www.nyas.org Members of the New York Academy of Science receive full text access to the Annals online and discounts on print volumes Please visit www.nyas.org/membership/main.asp for more information about becoming a member
