Hunter-gatherer Childhoods Barry S. Hewlett, Michael E. Lamb, In the vast anthropological literature devoted to hunter gatherer societies surprisingly little attention has been paid to the place of hunter gatherer children. Children often represent 40 percent of hunter gatherer populations thus nearly half the population is omitted from most hunter gatherer ethnographies and research. This volume is designed to bridge the gap in our understanding of the daily lives, knowledge and development of hunter gatherer children. The twenty six contributors to Hunter Gatherer Childhoods use three general but complementary theoretical approaches: evolutionary, developmental, cultural in their presentations of new and insightful ethnographic data. For instance, the authors employ these theoretical orientations to provide the first systematic studies of hunter gatherer children's hunting play, infant care by children, weaning and expressions of grief. The chapters focus on understanding the daily life experiences of children and their views and feelings about their lives and cultural change. Chapters address some of the following questions: why does childhood exist? who cares for hunter gatherer children? what are the characteristic features of hunter gatherer children's development and what are the impacts of culture change on hunter gatherer child care? The book is divided into five parts. The first section provides historical, theoretical and conceptual framework for the volume. The second section examines data to test competing hypotheses regarding why childhood is particularly long in humans. The third section expands on the second section by looking at who cares for hunter gatherer children. The fourth section explores several developmental issues such as weaning, play and loss of loved ones and the final section examines the impact of sedentism and schools on hunter gatherer children. This pioneering volume will help to stimulate further research and scholarship on hunter gatherer childhoods thereby advancing our understanding of the way of life that characterized most of human history and of the processes that may have shaped both human development and human evolution. Barry S. Hewlett is professor of anthropology at Washington State University Vancouver. Michael E. Lamb is professor of psychology in the social sciences, Cambridge University.

The Oxford Handbook of the Archaeology of Childhood Sally Elizabeth Ellen Crawford, Dawn M. Hadley, Gillian B. Shepherd, 2018 In this volume experts from around the world investigate childhood in the past showing why it is important to understand childhood why different cultures construct different ideas of how to rear children what part children play in the community and when and why childhood ends      The Routledge International Handbook of Philosophies and Theories of Early Childhood Education and Care Tricia David, Kathy Gooch, Sacha Powell, 2015-10-05 The Routledge Handbook of Philosophies and Theories of Early Childhood Education and Care brings together leading writers in the field to provide a much needed authoritative guide to the major philosophies and theories which have shaped approaches to Early Childhood Education and Care Providing a detailed overview of key concepts debates and practical challenges the handbook combines theoretical acumen with specific examples to show how philosophies and theories have evolved over the centuries and their impact on policy and society It examines the ways in which societies define and make sense of childhood and the factors that influence the development of philosophies about young children and their learning The collection offers an insight into the key theorists and considers how the economics and politics of their time and personal ideology influenced their ideas about childhood It looks at curricula and provision which have proved inspirational and how these have impacted on policy and practice in different parts of the world The handbook also explores alternative and perhaps less familiar philosophies and ideas about babies and young children their place in society and the ways in which it might be appropriate to educate them Bringing together specially commissioned pieces by a range of international authors this handbook will enable academics research students practitioners and policy makers to reflect on their own understandings and approaches as well as the assumptions made in their own and other societies      Evolutionary Perspectives on Infancy Sybil L. Hart, David F. Bjorklund, 2022-01-01 This unique volume is one of the first of its kind to examine infancy through an evolutionary lens identifying infancy as a discrete stage during which particular types of adaptations arose as a consequence of certain environmental pressures Infancy is a crucial time period in psychological development and evolutionary psychologists are increasingly recognizing that natural selection has operated on all stages of development not just adulthood The volume addresses this crucial change in perspective by highlighting research across diverse disciplines including developmental psychology evolutionary developmental psychology anthropology sociology nutrition and primatology Chapters are grouped into four sections Theoretical Underpinnings Brain and Cognitive Development Social Emotional Development Life and Death Evolutionary Perspectives on Infancy sheds new light on our understanding of the human brain and the environments responsible for shaping the brain during early stages of development This book will be of interest to evolutionary psychologists and developmental psychologists biologists and anthropologists as well as scholars more broadly interested in infancy      Handbook of Cultural Psychology, First Edition Shinobu Kitayama, Dov Cohen, 2010-01-04 Bringing together leading authorities this definitive handbook provides a comprehensive review of the field of cultural psychology Major theoretical perspectives are explained and methodological issues and challenges are discussed The volume examines how topics fundamental to psychology identity and social relations the self cognition emotion and motivation and development are influenced by cultural meanings and practices It also presents cutting edge work on the psychological and evolutionary underpinnings of cultural stability and change In all more than 60 contributors have written over 30 chapters covering such diverse areas as food love religion intelligence language attachment narratives and work Ancestral Landscapes in Human Evolution: Culture, Childrearing and Social Wellbeing Darcia Narvaez, Kristin Valentino, Agustin Fuentes, James J. McKenna, Peter Gray, 2014-02-21 The social contexts in which children develop have transformed over recent decades but also over millennia Modern parenting practices have diverged greatly from ancestral practices which included natural childbirth extensive and on demand breastfeeding constant touch responsiveness to the needs of the child free play in nature with multiple aged playmates and multiple adult caregivers Only recently have scientists begun to document the outcomes for the presence or absence of such parenting practices but early results indicate that psychological wellbeing is impacted by these factors Ancestral Landscapes in Human Evolution addresses how a shift in the way we parent can influence child outcomes It examines evolved contexts for mammalian development optimal and suboptimal contexts for human evolved needs and the effects on childrens development and human wellbeing Bringing together an interdisciplinary set of renowned contributors this volume examines how different parenting styles and cultural personality influence one another Chapters discuss the nature of childrearing social relationships the range of personalities people exhibit the social and moral skills expected of adults and what wellbeing looks like As a solid knowledge base regarding normal development is considered integral to understanding psychopathology this volume also focuses on the effects of early childhood maltreatment By increasing our understanding of basic mammalian emotional and motivational needs in contexts representative of our ancestral conditions we may be in a better position to facilitate changes in social structures and systems that better support optimal human development This book will be a unique resource for researchers and students in psychology anthropology and psychiatry as well as professionals in public health social work clinical psychology and early care and education The Evolved Nest Darcia Narvaez, PhD, G. A. Bradshaw, PhD, 2023-08-08 A fascinating look into nurturing and parenting in the natural world supplemented with original illustrations For readers of Becoming Animal and World of Wonders A beautiful resource for Nature advocates parents to be Animal lovers and anyone who seeks to restore wellbeing on our planet The Evolved Nest reconnects us to lessons from the Animal world and shows us how to restore wellness in our families communities and lives Each of 10 chapters explores a different animal s parenting model sharing species specific adaptations that allow each to thrive in their evolved nests You ll learn How Wolves build an internal moral compass How Beavers foster a spirit of play in their children How Octopuses develop emotional and social intelligence How when and whether or not Brown Bears decide to have children What their lessons can teach you whether you re a parent grandparent caregiver or childfree Psychologists Drs Darcia Narvaez and Gay Bradshaw show us how each evolved nest offers inspiration for reexamining our own systems of nurturing understanding and caring for our young and each other. Alongside beautiful illustrations, stunning scientific facts and lessons in neuroscience, psychology and evolutionary biology, we learn to care deeper, to restore our innate place within the natural world and fight for an ecology of life that supports our flourishing in balance with Nature alongside our human and non-human family. Intersubjective Minds Jonathan Delafield Butt, Vasudevi Reddy, 2025-01-12. Intersubjective Minds brings together world leaders in developmental psychology, biology, neuroscience, music, education, philosophy and psychiatry to consolidate the lifetime work of Professor Emeritus Colwyn Trevarthen FRSE. Spanning research from the 1960s to the present, Trevarthen's contributions to science have changed our understanding of infancy, neuroscience, education and musicality. The chapters included in this book from these diverse fields describe current issues, principles and perspectives for advanced theory and working practice on the role of intersubjectivity in early human life, its contribution to health, education and learning, and therefore its role in scientific understanding of the fundamentals of the human mind. By bringing together world-renowned scholars, scientists, medical and educational practitioners, this book serves as a landmark for the field of intersubjectivity. Warriors and Worriers Joyce F. Benenson, 2014-02. In Warriors and Worriers, psychologist Joyce Benenson presents a new theory of sex differences based on thirty years of research with young children and primates around the world. In this exciting exploration of human nature, Benenson thus turns upside down the familiar wisdom that women are more sociable than men and that men are more competitive than women. The Evolution of Childhood Melvin Konner, 2011-11-30. This book is an intellectual tour de force, a comprehensive Darwinian interpretation of human development. Looking at the entire range of human evolutionary history, Melvin Konner tells the compelling and complex story of how cross-cultural and universal characteristics of our growth from infancy to adolescence became rooted in genetically inherited characteristics of the human brain. All study of our evolution starts with one simple truth: human beings take an extraordinarily long time to grow up. What does this extended period of dependency have to do with human brain growth and social interactions? And why is play a sign of cognitive complexity and a spur for cultural evolution? As Konner explores these questions and topics ranging from bipedal walking to incest taboos, he firmly lays the foundations of psychology in biology. As his book eloquently explains, human learning and the greatest human intellectual accomplishments are rooted in our inherited capacity for attachments to each other. In our love of those we learn from, we find our way as individuals and as a species. Never before has this intersection of the biology and psychology of childhood been so brilliantly described. Nothing in biology makes sense except in the light of evolution, wrote Dobzhansky. In this remarkable book, Melvin Konner shows that nothing in childhood makes sense except in the light of evolution. The Evolution of Human Pair-Bonding, Friendship, and Sexual Attraction Michael R. Kauth, 2020-11-29. The Evolution of Human Pair-Bonding, Friendship, and Sexual Attraction presents an evolutionary history of romantic love, male-female pair-bonding, same-sex friendship and sexual attraction, drawing on sexuality research, gay and lesbian studies, history, literature, anthropology and evolutionary science. Employing evolutionary theory as a framework, close same-sex friendship is examined as an adaptive trait that has harnessed love affection and sexual pleasure to navigate same sex environments for both men and women ultimately benefiting their reproductive success and promoting the inheritance of traits for friendship Chapters consider the desire to form close same sex friendships and ask if this is embedded in our biology concluding that most humans have the capacity to form loving meaningful and sexual relationships with men and women This book takes on a unique interdisciplinary approach and is essential reading for those studying and working in sexuality research anthropology sociology evolutionary psychology and gay and lesbian studies It will also be of interest to marriage and family therapists as well as sex therapists

Embodied Morality Darcia Narvaez, 2016-05-25 In this book the broad interdisciplinary theory of Triune Ethics Meta theory is explored to demonstrate how it explains the different patterns of morality seen in the world today It describes how human morality develops dynamically from experience in early life and it proposes that the methods in which humans are raised bring about tendencies towards self protective or open hearted social relations When the life course follows evolutionary systems then prosocial open hearted capacities develop but when the life course goes against evolutionary systems it should not be a surprise that self focused values and behaviors develop such as violent tribalism self aggrandizement and a binary orientation to others dominance or submission Many humans alive today exhibit impaired capacities in comparison to humans from small band hunter gatherer societies the type of society that represents 99% of humanity's history TEM is rooted in ethical naturalism and points out how to optimize human moral development through the lifespan toward the ethics of engagement and communal imagination

Youth 'At the Margins' Sheri Bastien, Halla B. Holmarsdottir, 2015-06-25 This volume comes at a critical juncture as global commitments transition from the Millennium Development Goals to Sustainable Development Goals and the wider post 2015 development agenda is being discussed and debated In these discussions children and youth have been recognized as one of the nine major groups of civil society whose participation in decision making is essential for achieving sustainable development There is also a concomitant need for action innovative evidence based approaches to addressing entrenched global challenges or wicked problems and engaging youth in those efforts Within academic discourse the perspectives and active participation of youth in research has long been debated It is widely believed that their participation can result in better policy responses and contribute to the development of more relevant and effective interventions and programs to address their needs However the engagement of youth in research processes is not without critique issues such as how to move from tokenism towards authentic participation and empowerment have been critically discussed and many question if youth can or should even be expected to make change happen Youth At the Margins Critical Perspectives and Experiences of Engaging Youth in Research Worldwide brings together a range of critical and empirical contributions from emerging scholars and seasoned academics alike Each contribution provides a unique perspective on the potentialities and challenges associated with youth engaged research The chapters presented in this volume strive to critically interrogate and debate important foundational issues to consider when engaging youth in the research process such as epistemological and methodological considerations Important insights into the ethical pedagogical and practical aspects one must contend with can be gleaned from the selection of chapters here some of which are primarily theoretical and descriptive whilst others present empirical data with case examples from around the world This volume is devoted to showcasing high quality contributions to the scholarly literature on youth engaged research in order to spur further critical debate on the various epistemological methodological and ethical issues associated with engaging youth in research processes and in addressing intractable global issues The audience for this volume includes students researchers and academics within a broad range of fields who are interested in understanding the range of approaches being used worldwide to include youth in research endeavors on issues of global importance including poverty social exclusion structural violence un and under employment education and health      Sports Neurology ,2018-11-24
