Household Conveniences And How To Make Them:

How to furnish a house and make it a home How, 1855 The Home, how to Make and Keep it Mrs. H. W. Beecher, 1883 Beginner's Guide to Self Sufficiency Projects for the Home Editors of Cool Springs Press, 2024-12-17

Beginner's Guide to Self Sufficiency Projects for the Home an abridged and edited version of the bestselling Step by Step Projects for Self Sufficiency teaches DIY ers how to be self sufficient across multiple interest areas from gardening and raising animals to storage and alternative energy American Agriculturist , 1858 Entitled to Power Katherine Jellison, 2000-11-09

The advent of modern agribusiness irrevocably changed the patterns of life and labor on the American family farm In Entitled to Power Katherine Jellison examines midwestern farm women's unexpected response to new labor saving devices Federal farm policy at mid century treated farm women as consumers not producers New technologies as promoted by agricultural extension agents and by home appliance manufacturers were expected to create separate spheres of work in the field and in the house These innovations however enabled women to work as operators of farm machinery or independently in the rural community Jellison finds that many women preferred their productive roles on and off the farm to the domestic ideal emphasized by contemporary prescriptive literature A variety of visual images of farm women from advertisements and agricultural publications serve to contrast the publicized view of these women with the roles that they chose for themselves The letters interviews and memoirs assembled by Jellison reclaim the many contributions women made to modernizing farm life Originally published in 1993 A UNC Press Enduring Edition UNC Press Enduring Editions use the latest in digital technology to make available again books from our distinguished backlist that were previously out of print These editions are published unaltered from the original and are presented in affordable paperback formats bringing readers both historical and cultural value Putting the Barn Before the House Grey Osterud, 2012-03-27

Putting the Barn Before the House features the voices and viewpoints of women born before World War I who lived on family farms in south central New York As she did in her previous book Bonds of Community for an earlier period in history Grey Osterud explores the flexible and varied ways that families shared labor and highlights the strategies of mutuality that women adopted to ensure they had a say in family decision making Sharing and exchanging work also linked neighboring households and knit the community together Indeed the culture of cooperation that women espoused laid the basis for the formation of cooperatives that enabled these dairy farmers to contest the power of agribusiness and obtain better returns for their labor Osterud recounts this story through the words of the women and men who lived it and carefully explores their views about gender labor and power which offered an alternative to the ideas that prevailed in American society Most women saw putting the barn before the house investing capital and labor in productive operations rather than spending money on consumer goods or devoting time to mere housework as a necessary and rational course for families who were determined to make a living on the land and if possible to pass on viable farms to the next generation Some women preferred working outdoors to what seemed to them the thankless tasks of urban housewives while others worked off the farm to support the family. Husbands and wives as well as parents and children debated what was best and negotiated over how to allocate their limited labor and capital and plan for an uncertain future. Osterud tells the story of an agricultural community in transition amid an industrializing age with care and skill. Speaking of Life Jaber F. Gubrium, Using data drawn from interviews with nursing home residents Gubrium explores the quality of long term care they receive and the resulting quality of their lives. In their own voices these long stayers reveal themselves to be biographically active and widely diverse in their concern and involvement with home family life history dependence isolation and self worth. The resulting text provides conceptual methodological and personal lessons as offered by storytellers whose special circumstances continue to have meaning even at the very end of life. Government Credit United States. Congress. House. Committee on Banking and Currency, 1947

Rebuilding the Rural Southern Community Mary S. Hoffschwelle, 1998 In this book Mary Hoffschwelle shines a much needed light on the efforts of rural reformers. She focuses on Tennessee because its varied geography and the large number of rural reform programs it hosted make it a particularly rich subject for study. Also the state typified the burdens of poverty and racial division that characterized the South as a whole and as the author shows such problems attracted considerable attention from reformers. The Journal of Home Economics, 1918 Report, 1915 Commercial Catalogs Collection, 1915
