The Virtual Future William Sims Bainbridge, 2011-09-06 The newest communication technologies are profoundly changing the world's politics, economies, and cultures, but the specific implications of online game worlds remain mysterious. The Virtual Future employs theories and methods from social science to explore nine very different virtual futures: The Matrix Online, Tabula Rasa, Anarchy Online, Entropia Universe, Star Trek Online, EVE Online, Star Wars Galaxies, World of Warcraft, Burning Crusade, and The Chronicles of Riddick. Each presents a different picture of how technology and society could evolve in coming centuries, but one theme runs through all of them: the attempt to escape the Earth and seek new destinies among the stars. Four decades after the last trip to the moon, a new conception of spaceflight is emerging. Rather than rockets shooting humans across vast physical distances to sterile rocks that lack the resources to sustain life, perhaps robot space probes and orbiting telescopes will glean information about the universe that humans can then experience inside computer-generated environments much closer to home. All nine of these fantastically rich multiplayer masterpieces have shown myriads of people that really radical alternatives to contemporary society could exist and has served as a laboratory for examining the consequences. Each is a prototype of new social forms, a utopian subculture, and a simulation of technologies that have yet to be invented. They draw upon several different traditions of science fiction and academic philosophy, and they were created in several nations. By comparing these nine role-playing fantasies, we can better consider what kind of world we want to inhabit in the real future.

Cinema of Simulation: Hyperreal Hollywood in the Long 1990s Randy Laist, 2015-03-26 Hyperreality is an Alice in Wonderland dimension where copies have no originals; simulation is more real than reality, and living dreams undermine the barriers between imagination and objective experience. The most prominent philosopher of the hyperreal, Jean Baudrillard, formulated his concept of hyperreality throughout the 1980s, but it was not until the 1990s that the end of the Cold War, along with the proliferation of new reality-bending technologies, made hyperreality seem to come true. In the lost decade between the fall of the Berlin Wall and 9/11, the nature of reality itself became a source of uncertainty, a psychic condition that has been recognizably recorded by that seismograph of American consciousness, Hollywood cinema. The auteur cinema of the 1970s aimed for gritty realism, and the most prominent feature of Reagan-era cinema was its fantastic unrealism. Clinton-era cinema, however, is characterized by a prevailing mood of hyperrealism, communicated in various ways by such benchmark films as JFK, Pulp Fiction, and The Matrix. The hyperreal cinema of the 1990s conceives of the movie screen as neither a window on a preexisting social reality nor as a wormhole into a fantastic dream dimension; escapism, but as an arena in which images and reality exchange masks, blend into one another, and challenge the philosophical premises which differentiate them from one another. Cinema of Simulation: Hyperreal Hollywood in the Long 1990s provides a guided tour through the anxieties and fantasies reciprocally social and cinematic which characterize the surreal territory of the hyperreal.

Transmedia/Genre Matthew

Freeman,Anthony N. Smith,2023-02-05 This book brings genre back to the forefront of the current transmedia trend Genres are perhaps the most innately transmedial of media constructs formed as they are from all kinds of industrial technological and discursive phenomena Yet few have considered how genre works in a multiplatform context This book does precisely that making a uniquely transmedial contribution to the study of genre in the age of media convergence The book interrogates how industrial technological and participatory transformations of digital platforms and emerging technologies reshape workings of genre The authors consider franchises such as Star Wars streaming platforms such as Netflix catch up services such as ITV Hub creative technologies such as virtual reality and beyond In setting the stage for the revival of genre theory in contemporary transmedia scholarship this book pushes forward understandings of multiplatform media and the emerging form and function of genre across contemporary culture

The Living Bread Thomas Merton,1915 The whole problem of our time is the problem of love How are we going to recover the ability to love ourselves and to love one another We cannot be at peace with others because we are not at peace with ourselves and we cannot be at peace with ourselves because we are not at peace with God There is a distinction between a contrite sense of sin and a feeling of guilt The former is a true and healthy thing the latter tends to be false and pathological The man who suffers from a sense of guilt does not want to feel guilty but at the same time he does not want to be innocent He wants to do what he thinks he must not do without the pain of worrying about the consequences The history of our time has been made by dictators whose characters often transparently easy to read have been full of repressed guilt They have managed to enlist the support of masses of men moved by the same repressed drives as themselves Modern dictatorships display everywhere a deliberate and calculated hatred for human nature as such The technique of degradation used in concentration camps and in staged trials are all too familiar in our time They have one purpose to defile the human person
