These authors suggested that the effect of age on memory was due to the decline in the ability to learn new information. They found that older people were less likely to learn new information than younger people, but that once they had learned it, they were able to recall it just as well as younger people.

The recently published 2004-2005 survey was designed to help inform the local planning process for the 2006-2007 fiscal year. The survey was designed to help the community understand the needs of the community and to help the community understand the needs of the community.
