John Lyke, 2016-02-25 In writing the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution our Founding Fathers established a democratic republic with a solid political basis What they wrote was the political map that future representatives would need to follow to conduct the people's business in an efficient and effective manner As long as they faithfully carried out the people's will our democracy and republic would function in a way congruent with our forebears' wishes What in the world happened H John Lyke a board certified psychologist and professor emeritus at Metropolitan State College of Denver and the author of multiple political psychology books suggests that ever since George Washington retired as captain of our ship of state subsequent presidents and members of Congress have failed to use the sailing chart of the Constitution Instead they've chosen to pursue their own and their political parties' self interests Lyke uses psychological principles to explore the reasons why our government has fallen so low and in the voice of a kind but determined therapist he offers simple and viable solutions to get us back to following our map

Luther League Review, 1928 Consumers' Guide, 1939 A Course of Study in Radio Appreciation Alice Parvin Sterner, 1941 Transition 112 IU Press Journals, 2015-02-20 Issue

112 looks at violence and its relation to the history of slavery featuring pieces on the films Django Unchained and Lincoln. Published three times per year by Indiana University Press for the Hutchins Center at Harvard University, Transition is a unique forum for the freshest most compelling ideas from and about the black world. Since its founding in Uganda in 1961, the magazine has kept pace of the rapid transformation of the African Diaspora and has remained a leading forum of intellectual debate. In issue 112, the editors of Transition look at violence particularly as it relates to the history of slavery which raises the question of representation. Textbooks and television both grapple with the same fundamental questions: to whom do the stories of slaves belong? How should these stories be told? In this issue, Daniel Itzkovitz talks with Tony Kushner about the controversy that surrounded the making of Lincoln, a serious and sober film about the passage of the 13th Amendment. Django Unchained covers the same time period but uses a wildly different lens. The film is terrifying and topsy-turvy and has ignited controversy that became a white-hot conflagration. Henry Louis Gates Jr. speaks with Quentin Tarantino about the making of his film, and a host of scholars and critics, including Walter Johnson, Glenda Carpio, and Terri Francis, set the issue ablaze with provocative and searing commentary that speaks to the controversial film and its potent afterlife.

Local Movie Supply in the German Motion Picture Industry Florian Kumb, 2017-12-27 Florian Kumb provides a comprehensive review of the current state of the international literature on the motion picture industry and then applies a mix of appropriate quantitative and qualitative research methods in three empirical studies. He enters uncharted research territory, examining the effects that major film characteristics cause in the post-theatrical exhibition; he identifies key factors that influence public film funding decisions and then forecasts the future market development of a European film financing network. The author shows that the characteristics of local movies, public film funding, and the local film financing network are major reasons for the low international competitiveness of Germany's motion picture industry.
