Britton,Shannon K.

Jacobsen, Grace E. Howard, 2017-08-03 The Gender of Crime introduces readers to how gender shapes our understanding of every aspect of crime from defining what crime is to governing how crime is punished. The second edition of this award-winning book maintains the accessible reader-friendly narrative of the first edition with key updates and new material throughout, including increased focus on the intersections of race, class, gender, and sexuality in crime and punishment, more attention to LGBTQ issues, additional coverage of gender and crime on college campuses, and more. This dynamic and provocative book illustrates how gender is central to the definition, prosecution, and sentencing of crimes; that it shapes how victimization is experienced and understood; and how it structures the institutions of the criminal justice system and the experiences of workers within that system. The Gender of Crime demonstrates that crime victimization and crime control are never generic; they are instead produced and experienced by gendered and raced and classed and sexualized actors within contexts of social inequality. This book highlights key concepts and encourages readers to think through a range of compelling real-life examples from school violence to corporate crime. The second edition of The Gender of Crime is essential reading for students of gender and sexuality, sociology, criminology, and criminal justice. What Women Want Geoff

Dench, 2017-09-29 Over the last few decades, families in many highly developed nations such as Great Britain have been held together by grandparents. Yet as single motherhood spreads into this generation, extended families without men or work are becoming more common. The proportion of single mothers with daughters who are also state-dependent single mothers is growing. The British underclass has arrived. Women who can see this happening around them and understand its roots are the ones most able to revive traditional values, but policymakers are looking the other way. This fuels alienation from mainstream political parties. What Women Want argues that sociology and social policy in Britain have failed to recognize how women's orientation to paid work and a career remains different from men's. Most women now have paid jobs, but the happiest are those working only part-time with plenty of time to enjoy motherhood and being a homemaker. A revised sexual division of labor has emerged, and the author argues that denial of this in Britain may be contributing to the breakdown of family life. A working male partner is a major factor in making women happy. The least content are single mothers dependent on state welfare who know that the state expects them to repay its support by becoming full-time workers when their children reach a certain age. Many single mothers may be victims of policies prioritizing work for women. Single motherhood has grown alongside male breadwinners. This is a new edition of a book previously distributed only in the United Kingdom. The Truth About Guys Chad Eastham, 2012-01-10 A guide to teenage boys for Christian teenage girls discusses such issues as what guys really want in girls, why guys do not like to talk about their feelings, and how to have a healthy relationship.

Brand Jesus Tyler Wigg Stevenson, 2007-05-01 In this provocative book, the author argues that American Christianity, especially evangelicalism, has been corrupted by the dominance of consumerism in modern life. The church's mostly uncritical adoption of this secular condition has resulted in an idolatrous morphing of the message of Christ into just another brand.

With Brand Jesus Wigg Stevenson names the growing concern felt by many Christians at the commodification of their faith Using Paul s letter to the Romans as a starting point Wigg Stevenson reads the letter to today s church speaking to our consumerist situation through the parallels with Paul s Rome Though rooted unapologetically in a love for the church Brand Jesus does not shy away from provocative claims about the melding of Christian faith and consumer ideals the rise of market driven theology the blurring boundaries between the law and religion and other topics Wigg Stevenson describes the current situation of both church and society and issues a challenge to it When faith is a product for consumption how can the church be faithful to Christ as living Lord instead of as Brand Jesus
