Handbook of Internet Crime Yvonne Jewkes, Majid Yar, 2013-03-07 An essential reference for scholars and others whose work brings them into contact with managing policing and regulating online behaviour the Handbook of Internet Crime emerges at a time of rapid social and technological change Amidst much debate about the dangers presented by the Internet and intensive negotiation over its legitimate uses and regulation this is the most comprehensive and ambitious book on cybercrime to date The Handbook of Internet Crime gathers together the leading scholars in the field to explore issues and debates surrounding internet related crime deviance policing law and regulation in the 21st century The Handbook reflects the range and depth of cybercrime research and scholarship combining contributions from many of those who have established and developed cyber research over the past 25 years and who continue to shape it in its current phase with more recent entrants to the field who are building on this tradition and breaking new ground Contributions reflect both the global nature of cybercrime problems and the international span of scholarship addressing its challenges Forthcoming Books connectivity is worth it Who benefits from smart technology Sadowski explains how data once the purview of researchers and policy wonks has become a form of capital Smart technology he argues is driven by the dual imperatives of digital capitalism extracting data from and expanding control over everything and everybody He looks at three domains colonized by smart technologies collection and control systems the smart self the smart home and the smart city The smart self involves more than self tracking of steps walked and calories burned it raises questions about what others do with our data and how they direct our behavior whether or not we want them to The smart home collects data about our habits that offer business a window into our domestic spaces And the smart city where these systems have space to grow offers military grade surveillance capabilities to local authorities Technology gets smart from our data We may enjoy the conveniences we get in return the refrigerator says we re out of milk but Sadowski argues smart technology advances the interests of corporate technocratic power and will continue to do so unless we demand oversight and ownership of our data
