How To Pleasure A Woman Right:

The Perplexity of a Muslim Woman Olfa Youssef, 2017-03-08 Using the methodology of modern scholars in the fields of Arabic lexicography linguistics and psychoanalysis Tunisian feminist scholar Olfa Youssef investigates the rulings about inheritance marriage and homosexuality in the Qur'anic text itself and compares them with the interpretations provided by male Muslim theologians and legal scholars from medieval times to the present In this book she makes five central arguments 1 There is a discrepancy between the layered signification in the Qur'anic text itself and the sutured explanations by religious scholars which have been enacted into law in many Muslim countries today 2 the plurality of meanings is the quintessential essence of the Qur'an as evidenced in the absence of any sura over which there was unanimous agreement among Muslim scholars 3 when male privilege was at stake male legal scholars to protect their own interests ignored the divine text and based their rulings on human consensus 4 Muslim medieval views on gender and homosexuality were more tolerant than contemporary ones and finally 5 preferring indeterminacy and perplexity over the finality and certainties found in the judgements of male theologians Youssef argues that only God knows the Qur'an's true meaning Her job as a Muslim female scholar is only to raise questions over those human interpretations that many Muslim societies mistake for divine will

Women in Magazines Rachel Ritchie,Sue Hawkins,Nicola Phillips,S. Jay Kleinberg,2016-02-19 Women have been important contributors to and readers of magazines since the development of the periodical press in the nineteenth century By the mid twentieth century millions of women read the weeklies and monthlies that focused on supposedly feminine concerns of the home family and appearance In the decades that followed feminist scholars criticized such publications as at best conservative and at worst regressive in their treatment of gender norms and ideals However this perspective obscures the heterogeneity of the magazine industry itself and women s experiences of it both as readers and as journalists This collection explores such diversity highlighting the differing and at times contradictory images and understandings of women in a range of magazines and women s contributions to magazines in a number of contexts from late nineteenth century publications to twenty first century titles in Britain North America continental Europe and Australia and struggles for livelihood Despite the industry s persistent insistence on viewing sexuality as basically outside the realm of economic modernization and anti poverty programs this volume brings to the fore heterosexual bias within macroeconomic and human rights development frameworks The work fills an important gap in understanding how people s intimate lives are governed through heteronormative policies which typically assume that the family is based on blood or property ties rather than on alternative forms of kinship By placing heteronormativity at the center of analysis this anthology thus provides a much needed discussion about the development industry s role in pathologizing sexual deviance yet also more recently in helping make visible a sexual rights agenda Providing insights valuable to a range of disciplines this book will be of particular interest to students and scholars of Development Studies Gender Studies and International Relations It will also be highly relevant to development practitioners and international human rights advocates The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com/books/e/9780203868348> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license
